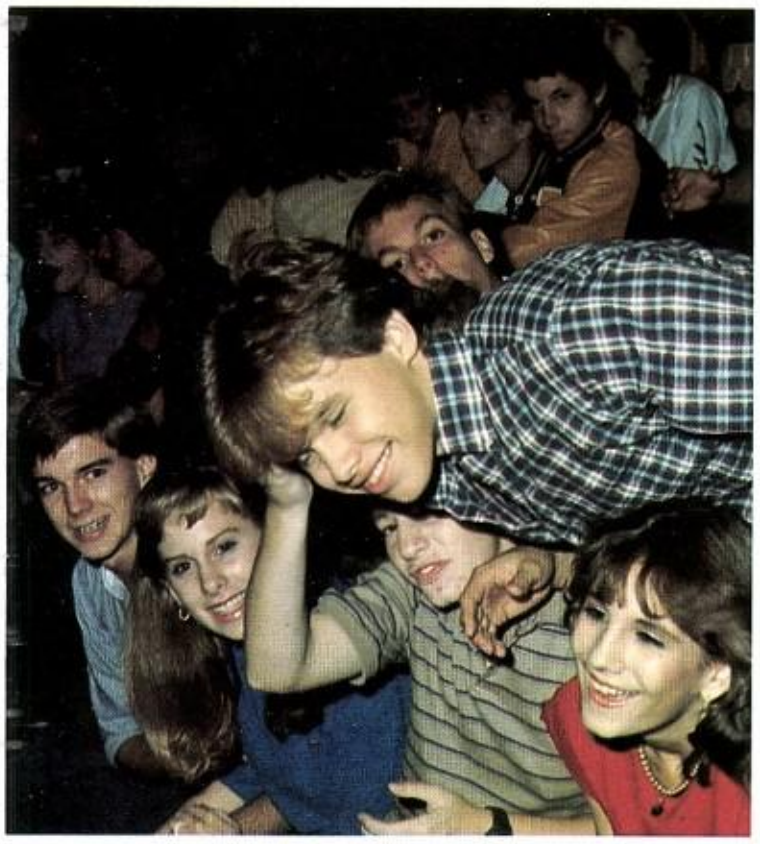
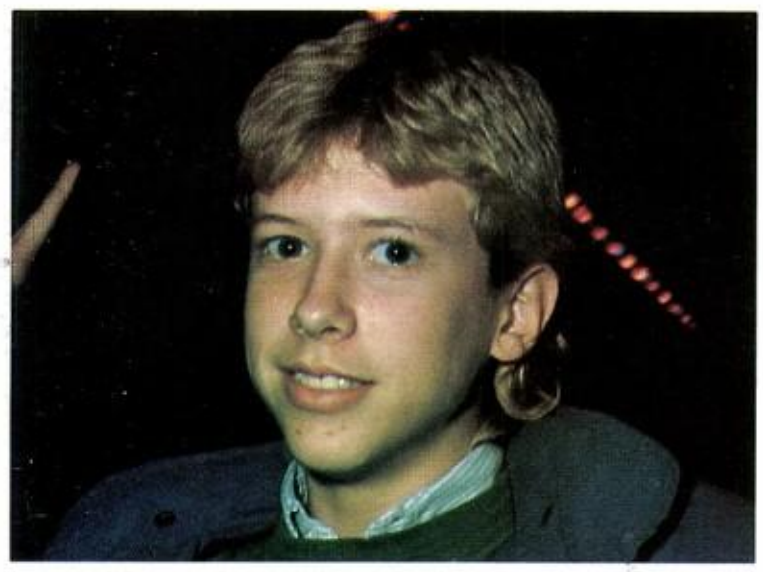
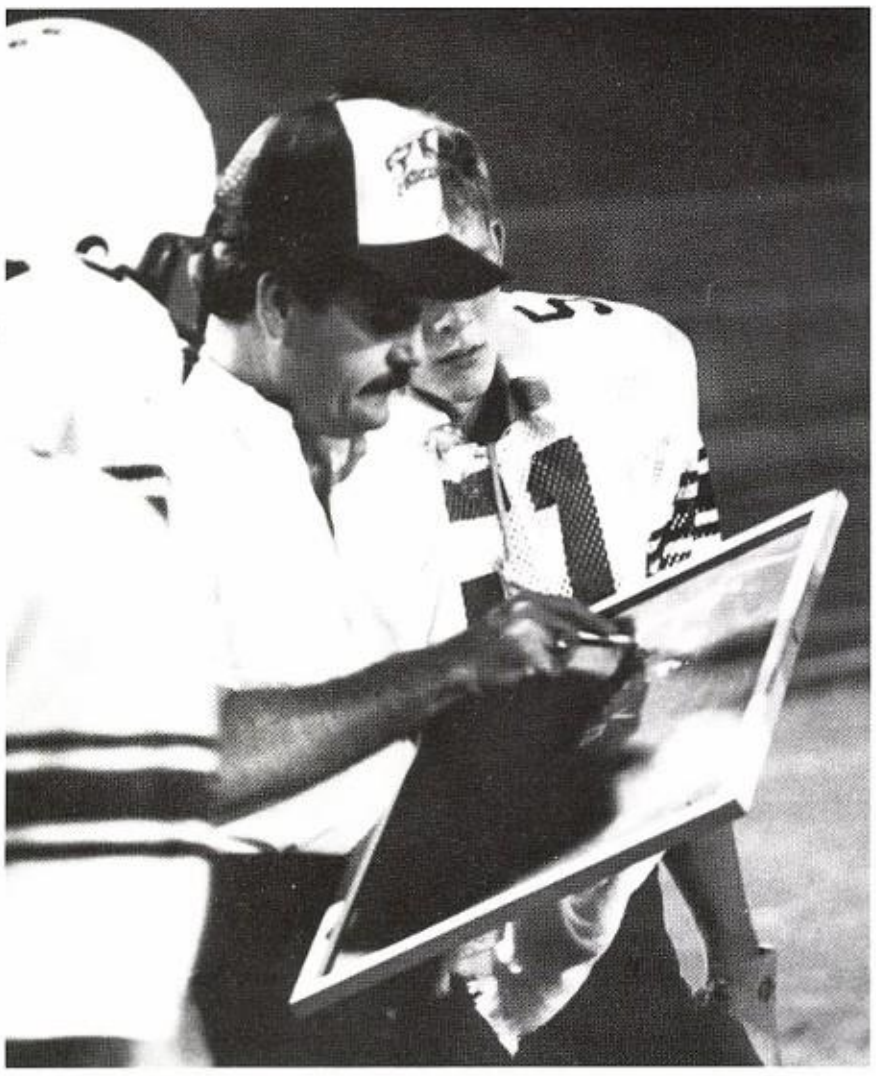
"The Way We Were"

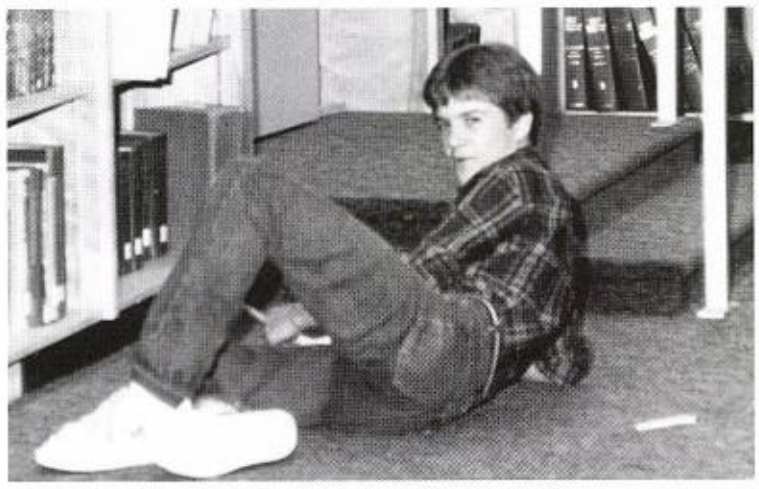




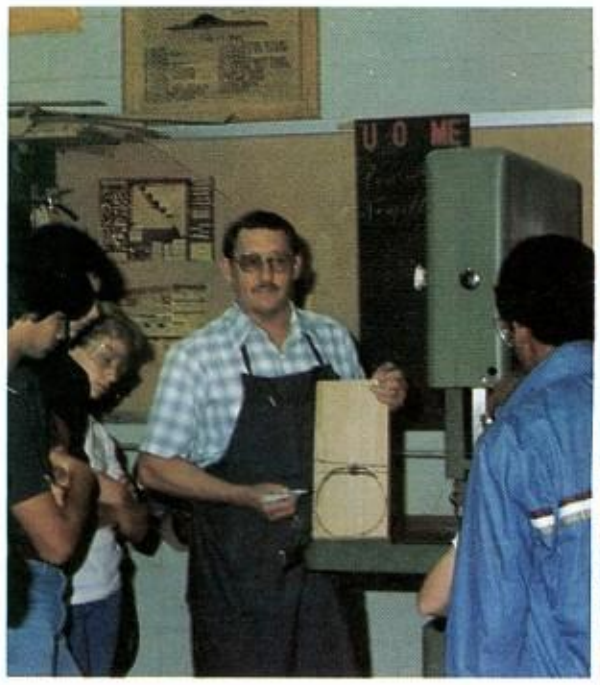
Western Hills: "Where

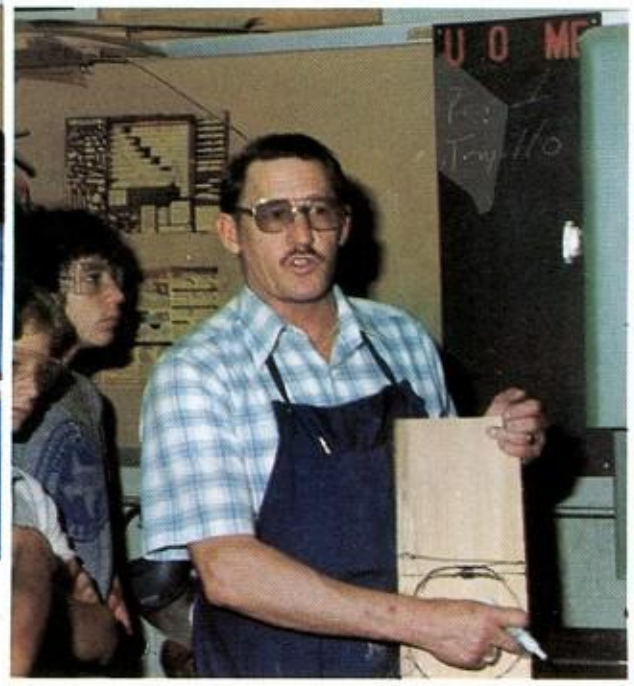


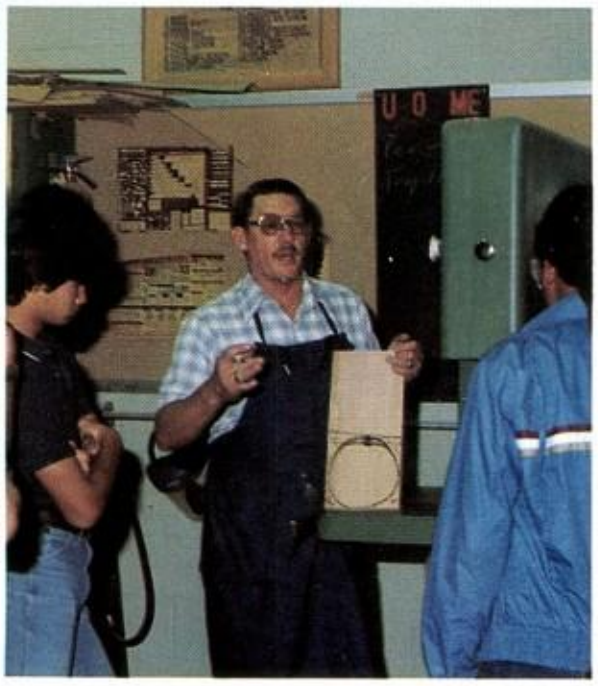
Rock and Roll Lives On"



In Dedication: Mr. William Mazy







With great pride, the CATAMOUNT Corporation dedicates the 1984-85 edition toMr. William Mazy. He came to Western Hills as part of the "original staff" in the first year of our existence. Mr. Mazy has been an innovator throughout his teaching career. Four years ago, he introduced woodcarving to the curriculum ofthe Fort Worth Public Schools. Western Hills became the first school in the state of Texas to offer the course for elective credit.

Originally from Paris, Texas, Mr. Mazy attended Paris Junior College for one year before moving to North Texas University. At North Texas, he completed both his Bachelor's and his Master's degrees in Industrial Arts.

Mr. Mazy leads a very interesting life away from the classroom. He is a CommandSergeant in the Texas National Guard. He has served the country and the State ofTexas in this capacity for thirty-four years. He has been called into active duty status to help with disaster relief operations all over the state. Recently, his unit was pressed into service to aid victims of the Witchita Falls tornado.

Mr. Mazy's hobby, woodcarving, developed gradually as he became interested in the craft. He is self-taught, but he has added much to his storehouse of expertise on the subject by attending seminars and reading. The skill he has achieved in carving is quite evident in the samples of his finished works, many of which can be seen in the display cases outside the wood lab.

"Mr. Mazy instills in his students the patience and skill that it takes to convert a plain block of wood into a work of art." The CATAMOUNT staff salutes Mr. Mazy as a great teacher and a fine craftsman.

Board Implements New Policies

Elected members of the Board of Education were: first row; Mr. T.A. Sims, Board Secretary, District 4; Dr, H. Richard O'Neal, Board President; Mrs. Mollie Lasater, Board Vice-President; second row; Mr. Arturo Pena, District 1; Mr. Bill Elliott, District 2; Mrs. Maudrie Walton, District 3; Mrs. Suzanne Lasko, District 5; Mrs. Jocelyn Wuester, District 6; Mr. Loftin Witcher, District 7.

With the advent of House Bill 72, many changes were made in the operation of our school district. New policies affected all students in the district. Fort Worth faired much better than most districts across the state because of the far sighted preparations made by our board. Many of the new policies that were instituted by the state had already been implemented in Fort Worth.

Board members received another honor being named the "Outstanding School Board in Texas" for the past year. Superintendent Dr. I. Carl Candoli, praised the efforts of the school board in making the changes mandated by the passage of theHouse Bill.

Mr. Fulton Completes Sixth Year

Mr. Fulton takes a break from the day's paperwork.

With a bright face Mr. Fulton procedes to give the morning announcements.

Mr. Fulton greets Holly Neal at the Exes reception.

Mr. Quince Fulton

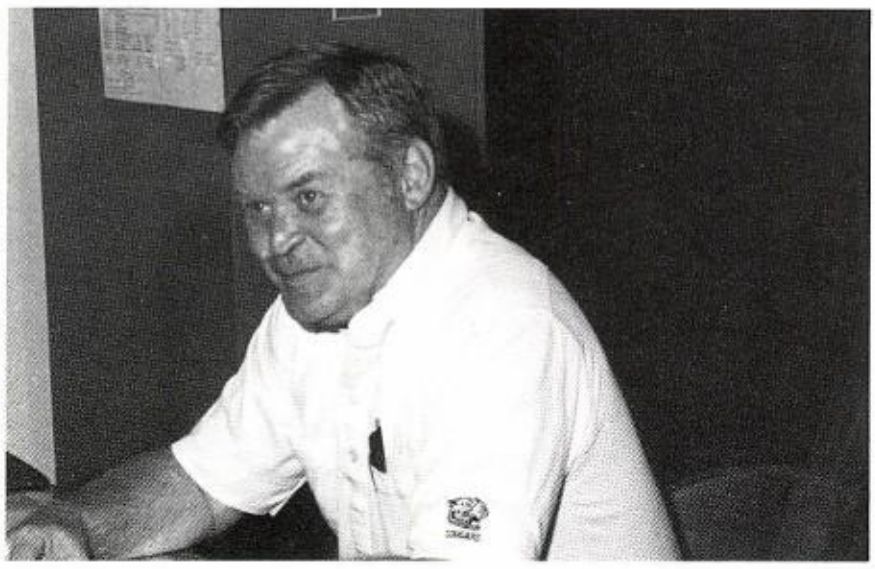
1984-85 was a school year marked by change for school principal Mr. Quince Fulton. Implementation of House Bill 72 by the State Legislature caused hurried plans to be made just prior to the beginning of the school year.

Mr. Fulton began orienting the faculty at a special in-service meeting held about two weeks before school started. At this meeting, new policies and procedures were explained to the teachers, providing them with the best available information at the time. A series of faculty meetings held at the beginning of the semester helped to keep the faculty and staff informed.

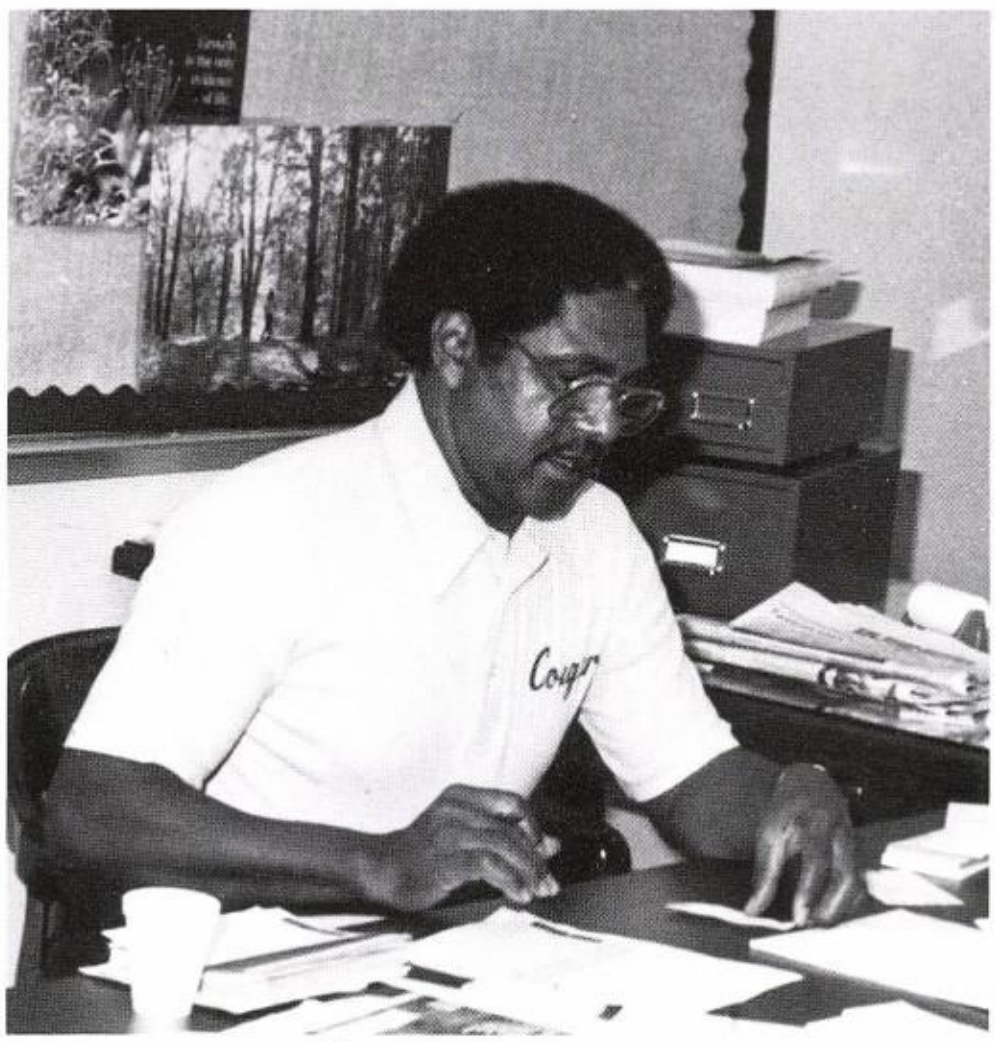
Mr. Fulton, who is known for his personable attitude toward students, faculty,and parents, takes great pride in Western Hills. He lauds the support of the community and the parents for the school. Fulton has been instrumental in the formation of several new services, available to students at W.H.H.S. The most notable of these new innovations is the "Homework Hotline". Teachers from all facets of the academic faculty provide much needed assistance for students who have difficulty with their homework. By calling the school, help can be had in almost any subject.

Mr. Fulton has continued to provide a great situation for learning. The best faculty, the finest facilities, and the best principal and administration make a winning combination for education.

Administration Runs Tight Ship



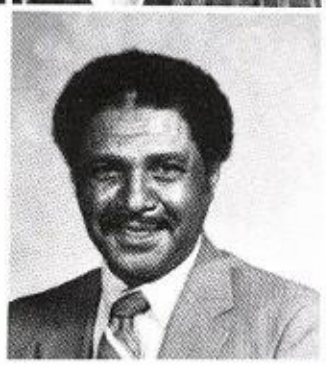
Mr. Richard Berg smiles as he completes the day's work.



Mr. James Ingram writes out his first tardy pass of the day.

Mr. Richard Berg
Mrs. Thelma Cole

Mr. James Ingram



Vice Principals are very busy people. From the first bell in the morning till the last in the afternoon, their days are filled with students in need. Our vice principals, Mrs Cole, Mr. Berg and Mr. Ingram handle administrative duties with fairness and firmness.

Aside from dealing intensely with students, our vice principals are also responsible for chaperoning all school functions. When you consider all of the sporting events, contests, games, and dances that our people participate in after the normal school day is over, you can see that these three people, along with principal Mr. Quince Fulton, are very busy indeed.

A close working relationship exists between each of our administrators. Consistency in handling difficulties and administering policies is what makes our vice principals so great.

Mrs. Thelma Cole ponders the length of the daily cut sheet.

Office Staff Produces Results

Mrs Madge Prince and Mrs. Betty Clements converse about a computer printout that is full of errors.

Mrs. Sharon Schmidt

Mrs. Dortha Hall prepares to type more letters to send to parents.

Mrs. Betty Clements completes yet another memo for the faculty.

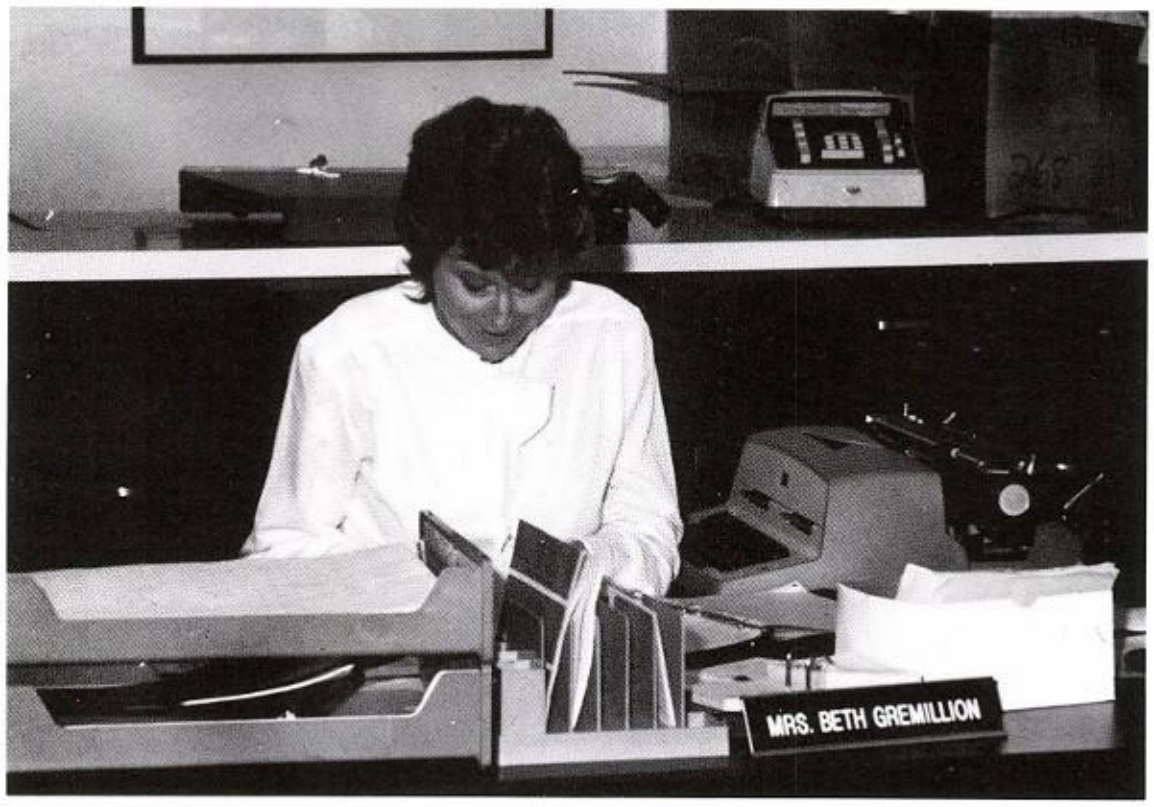
Our main office staff conducted all the business of running the school. They handled incoming phone calls, the mountain of paperwork required for a school this size, and the ever changing events calendar. They shuffled enormous amounts of incoming and outgoing mail, sold school supplies to those in need, kept copius records, and still found time to smile.

Mrs. Betty Clements, Mrs. Freida Hoel and Mrs. Dortha Hall handled the duties of the main office. Mrs. Sharon Schmidt was concerned with the registrars duty as well as the bookkeeping for all school accounts. Mrs. Madge Prince handled all the data processing chores, student withdrawals and new student records.

Office Staff Shows Professionalism

Mrs. Beth Gremillion

Mrs. Sally Carter



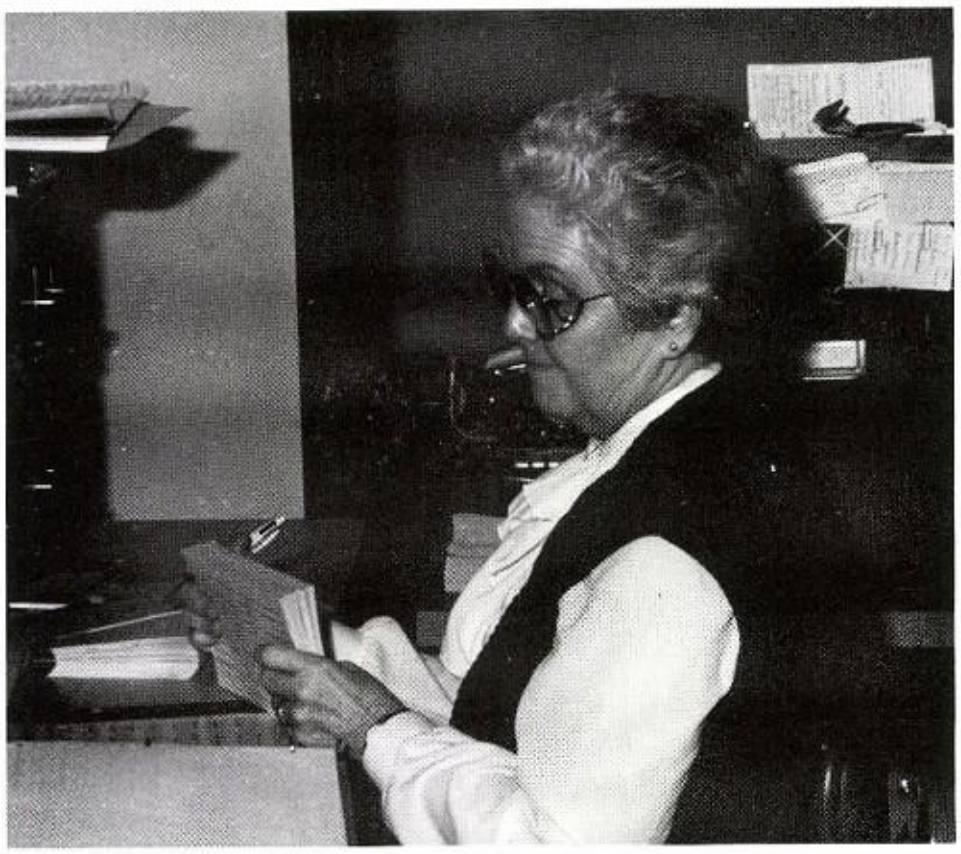
Mrs. Beth Gremillion puts the finishing touches on the absentee sheet.

The attendacne office took care of a myriad of paperwork this year. Mrs. Sally Carter and Mrs. Beth Gremillion handled all attendance records, took care of tardies, dealt with dismissals, and took care of the lost and found department.

The new rules mandated by House Bill 72 caused many new procedures to be implemented in the attendance office. The volume of things to be done would have been more than a match for most people, but our team of experts always managed to do the job with a smile.

Mrs. Sally Carter places her signature on an early dismissal.

Total Health Care is Concern of Nurse



Nurse Virginia Sheffield files new information cards on incoming ninth graders.

Mrs. Virginia Sheffield

Mrs. Debra Coleman

The task of keeping all student health records straight, checking on immunizations, arranging for athletic physicals, and dealing with individual illnessnes and injuries was dealt with by our school nurse and her staff.

Mrs. Virginia Sheffield, Mrs Debra Coleman, and Mrs. Joan Brooks worked diligently to insure that all the activites of the nurses office were conducted smoothly and efficiently. Students who became ill at school found that the nurses office was the best place to be.

Mrs. Joan Brooks, nurses aide, smiles as another student enters the office.

Custodians Brighten Things Up

Cleanliness of the school is very important to everyone. The custodians devoted themselves to keeping the school bright, and very clean. Mr. Johnny Foreman and Mr. Odell Sneed strived to see that all operations in the physical plant worked smoothly and efficiently. With the cooperation of the faculty, student body and the administration, the custodial staff was able to keep Western Hills one of the showplaces of the Fort Worth school system.

Mr. Johnnie Foreman and Mrs Edith Camel discuss the events of a busy day.

Members of the cafeteria staff worked hard to provide balanced, nutritional, meals for the students and the faculty. One favorite standout food continued to be the fresh rolls that are made daily in the cafeteria. Other members of the cafeteria staff include Mrs. Patty Dillon, Mrs. Constance Hill, Mrs. Joyce Payne, Mrs. Patricia Rekieta, and Mrs. Norma Williams.

Library Provides World of Imagination

Mrs. Mary Hart

Mrs. Peggie Herring

Mrs. Mary Hart takes a break from updating the overdue book file.

The library is truly a place where one can let his imagination wonder. New adventures are just waiting to be explored. These journeys can be begun by simply opening a book.

Head Librarian, Mrs. Peggie Herring, and her assistant, Mrs. Mary Hart, work very hard to insure that all material in the library is properly shelved and readily available. Western Hills prides itself on having one of the most complete high school libraries in the entire system.

The library is also truly a "learning resource center". All kinds of audio visual equipment is available for use in the classroom. A vertical file and a periodical storage room provide students with recent copies of news articles. Many publications are available on micro-film.

For an interesting afternoon of adventure and fun, visit our library...you'll be glad you did.

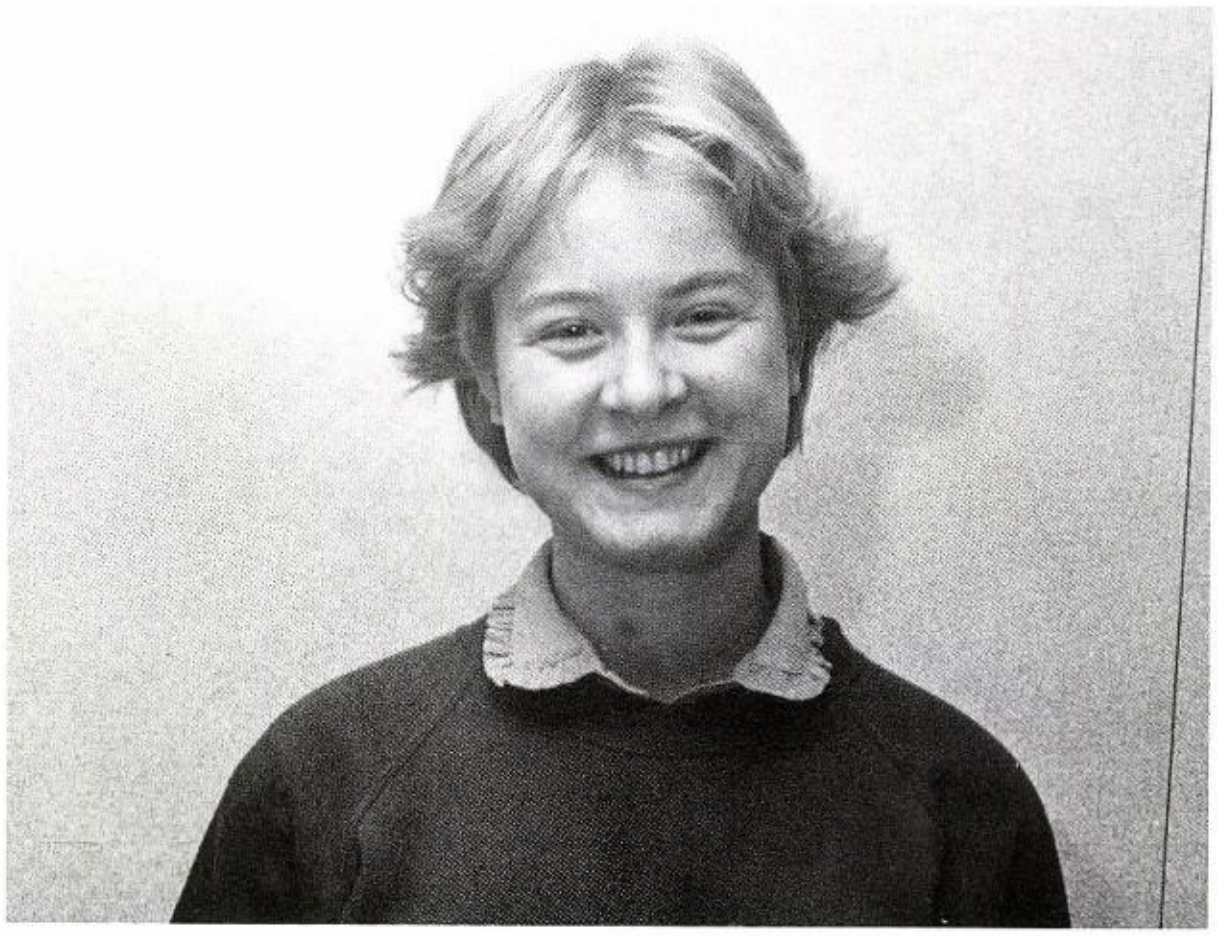
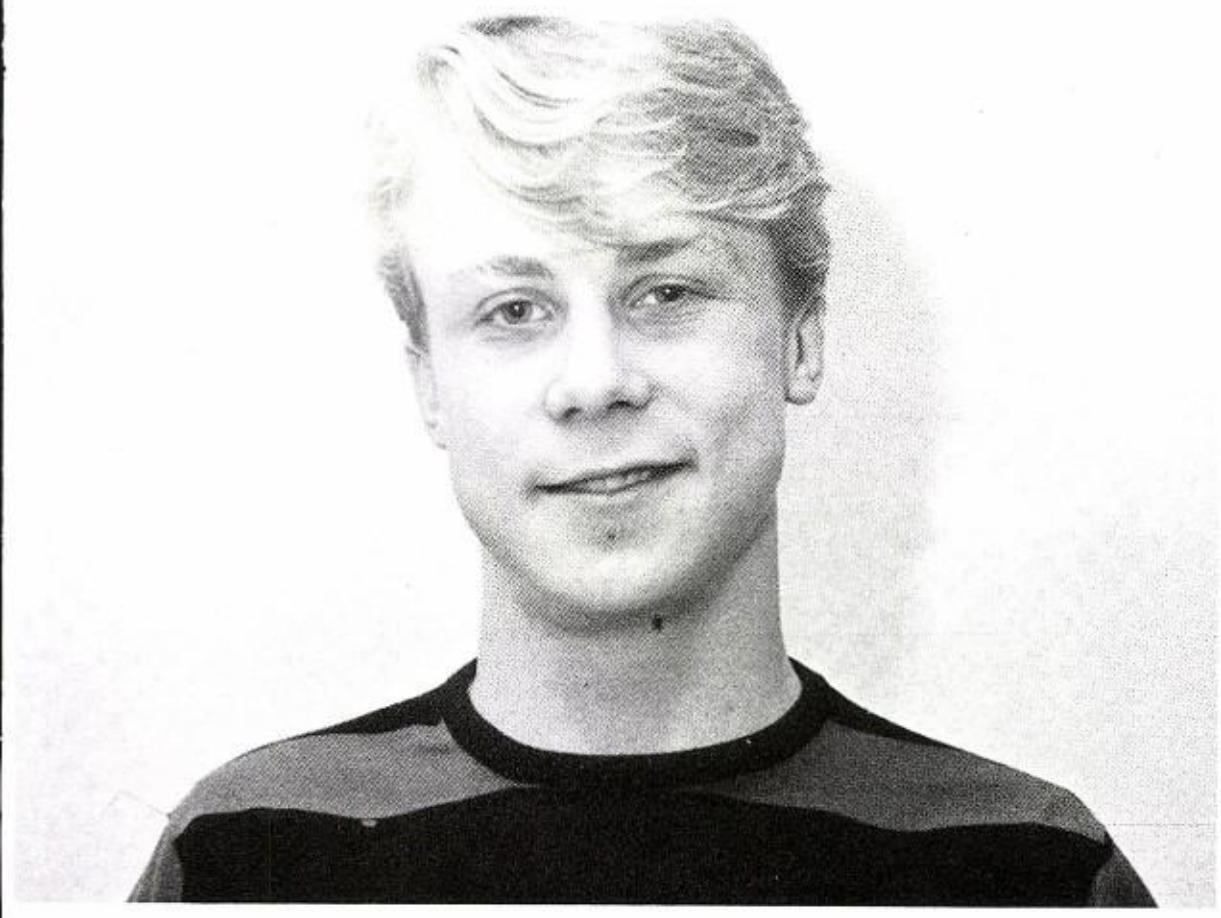
Students Experience American Culture

This past year, WHHS was home to two foreign exchange students, both from Sweden. Aurora Tellenbach was born in Lund, Sweden, but later moved to Bjarred. Some of the major differneces she noticed between the United States and Sweden are the age for getting our driver's license and our schools. In Sweden, you must be at least 18 to drive, but it is common to take or ride your bike for transportation. She says the schools here are much easier and we have a wider variety of subjects to chose from. Aurora just decided to come to the United States for a change of scenery for a while and to improve her English. She enjoys going on long bike rides and in the summer, swimming, and riding in her canoe. She also enjoys looking in store windows and shopping.





Simon Norrthon decided about a year and a half ago to make the journey from his home in Stolkholm, Sweden, to the "promised land in the west"- the United States. He wanted to gain more knowledge of the world and figured the experience wouldn't hurt. Simon commented that the United States in very different from Sweden. "It is the land of extremes-rich/poor,etc. . . especially in Texas." He recommends his decision to every student who isn't afraid of the world and wants to find out what it's all about. Simon wishes to thank everyone who made this visit possible.

ACTIVITIES

Howdy Week Welcomes New students

FISHBUSTERS, Lisa Morris, Kris Abshire,Mark Tuimpson, and Steve Burkett ask, "Who ya gonna call?"

Freshmen cheer the cougars to victory.

Kelly Mayo gives Amy Hillman and Tara Washaw a hug on the patio.

School is a dreaded, but necessary event after a long summer vacation. Freshmen looked a little frightened during the first week, but after a while, they got the hang of things.

Howdy Week is a special contrivance to lessen the blow of returning to school. Tuesday was designated Freshmen Appreciation Day, Wednesday was International Day, and Friday was Green-andGold Day.

Howdy Week got everyone in the mood for a great year. Participation was outstanding as usual . . . even if we did have to go to school.

Sophomore girls show their excitement at starting a new year.

Howdy Dance Attracts a Crowd

Howdy Queen Carissa Cisco and Howdy King Chris Ward dance just after being crowned.

Joel Folger, D.J. from radio station KEGL, spins the records while everyboby rocks.

Howdy Week at Western Hills was completed with the traditional Howdy Dance, held in the school Cafeteria on September 8th.

The dance gave everyone a chance to socialize and get acquainted. At the mid-point of the dance, the lights were turned up and the Howdy Queen and King were crowned. This year, students honored Carissa Cisco and Chris Ward with the crowns.

The dance ran smoothly with the help of Joel Folger and his wide variety of music. Freshmen lost their bashful tendencies and filled the dance floor. A perfect evening was concluded at midnight with the traditional slow dance.

The Howdy Dance gets great results as students get into the spirit of Hills.

Parents Night Proves Successful

Mrs. Winifred Elliott discusses English grades with interested parents.

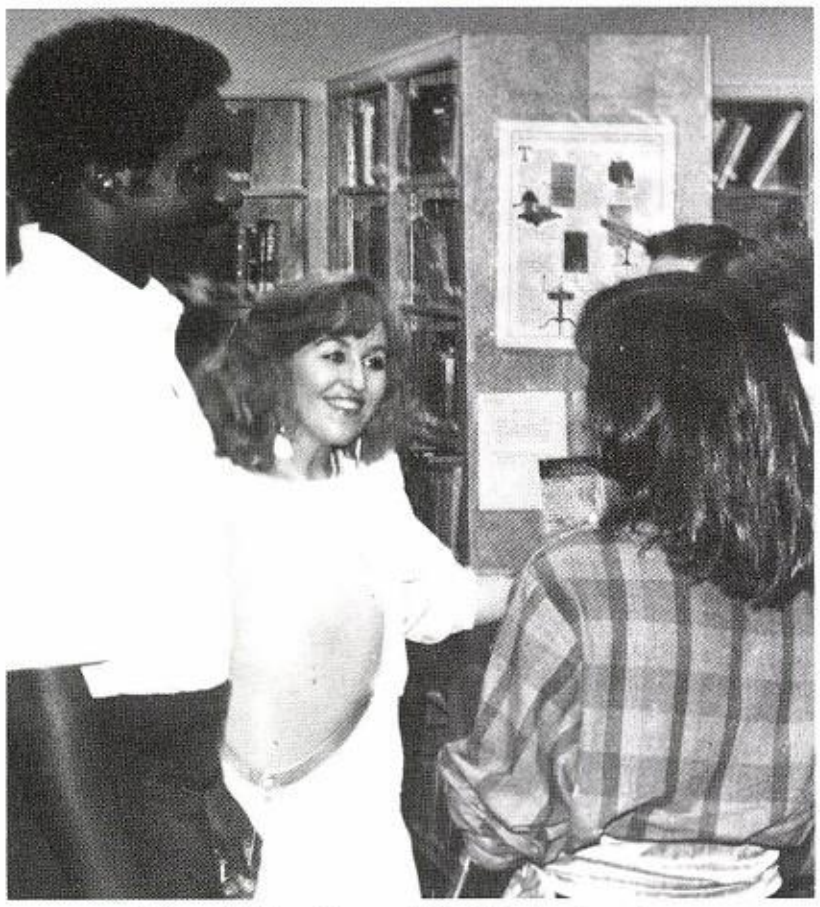
Mrs. Vash Riley (school substitute teacher) converses with parents in Mrs. Gorzny's journalism class.

Parents line up to speak to Ms. Farmer in French class.

October 25, 1984 marked the seventeenth annual Parents Night at Western Hills. The open house began at 6:00 p.m. with a PTSO meeting in the auditorium. Mr. Fulton welcomed the visitors and introduced the faculty to the parents.

The Western Hills Choir entertained the guests with songs. Afterwards, the parents were invited to meet with the teachers in the classroom to discuss all facets of school and student life at Hills.

EX's Relive Memories



Dianne Yuill reminisces with her friends and teachers.

Michelle Makuch, Angela Martinez, and Kim Kieffer talk about old times.

Graduates of Western Hills came back to reunite old memories at this year's Ex's homecoming reception. Approximately 50 people attended the reception which was held on October 12, in our school library, from 10:00 to 11:30. The former Western Hills students attending the reception ranged from '69 to '84; the oldest one being Carole Mathers, a '69 graduate. The Ex's reception was sponsored and given by the Student Council and refreshments were provided by the Executive Board. Special thanks to Peggie Herring along with the Student Council for their hard work to make the reception a success.

Kayla Cates laughs at Sue Adams joke as Lisa Boyd looks on.

Parade Keeps Tradition Alive

Junior girls enjoy participating in the parade.

Tammy Wiley and Angela Watson show off their truck before the parade begins.

Janet Bullard, Tara Schafer, and Lori Williams raise school spirit at the parade.

The fourth annual Homecoming Parade was sponsored by the Key Club, and directed by club sponsor Mr. Horace Morgan. Fifty-four vehicles comprised the caravan that wound its way from Western Hills past Leonard Middle School and back to Hills.

Parade marshalls Mr. Jimmy Peterson and Mr. Bob McLaren accompanied the decorated cars on their official mini-bikes. The Flying Cougars tumbled along the parade route while the marching band struck up the school song.

A pep rally followed these festivities. Brian Seibel presented prizes to the three best decorated cars.

Royalty Presented to Highlight Game

Members of the Homecoming Court were: JoJo LaBorde, Ashley Zimmerhanzel, Sandra Gregg, Julie Boler, Queen- Janet Bullard, Lisa Morris, Trinna Stidom, Cindy Kendall, and Christy Morris.

During half-time of the Eastern Hills game, October 12 at Clark Field, the excitement abounded at the traditional ceremony at which the 1984 Homecoming Court princesses were escorted and the Homecoming Queen was crowned. Two princesses from each class were elected by the student body during their lunch periods and these members of the court were escorted on the field by their fathers to keep the tradition going for Western Hills. From among the three Senior princesses, Julie Boler, Janet Bullard, and Lisa Morris, Janet was chosen and crowned the 1984 Homecoming Queen.

Homecoming queen for 1984-85 was Miss Janet Bullard.

"School Spirit" Brought to Dance

Danny Martinez's grand entrance was met by shaking Mr. Waters hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Fulton displayed their hidden talents to manipulate the dance floor.

This year's Homecoming Dance was spotlighted by the theme, "School Spirit." The dance was held in the school cafeteria, on October 13, from 8:00 to 12:00 P.M. The music was provided by Barry Casey, who tried to fill everyone's requests by the sheet given to him in advance. The dance was filled with entertainment and enjoyment by the 700 people who attended. The ceiling was decorated with balloons and the walls were elaborately decorated with paw prints for everyone who bought their tickets before they got to the door. Student Council Board members sold these tickets and made good deals for the ones who bought their tickets early. Pictures were taken by the Camera Club for the couples who took time out to capture the memories of this festive occasion.

Country folks kicked up their heels at the Cotton-Eyed-Joe.

Couples take a breather and pace themselves during the playing of "Through the Years".

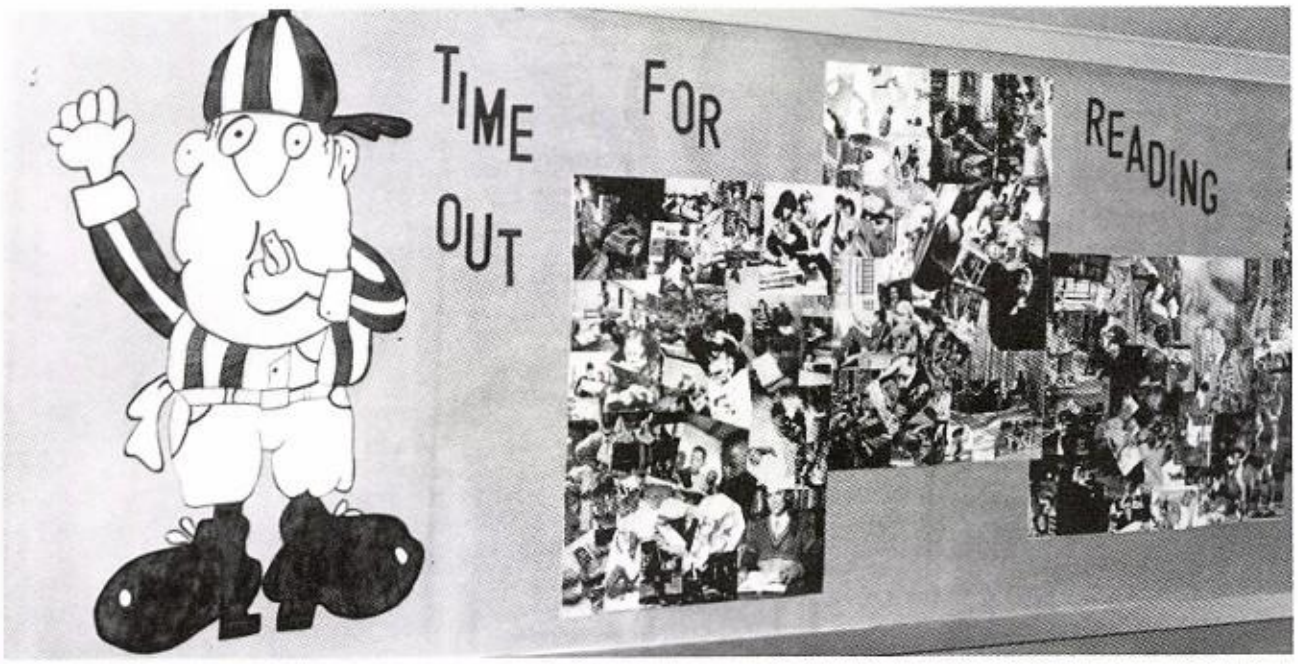
It's Wednesday??....Then We're Reading!!

Homemaking students Sam Jackson, Troy Tubbs, and Pat Grissom spend their reading time enjoying magazines.

Shelia Day, Brian Emert, Kris Hickman, Megan Lee, Ed Hardison, Steve Endress and Robert Landers take advantage of the weekly reading break in Mr. Test's physics class.



The bulletin board in Mrs. Smith's English class shows the enthusiasm generated by the reading time.

In Mrs. Biggs' math class, Chuck Prill, Justin Dalley, Nichole Arena, Michael Battle, Shawnette Carter, Jamey Ramey, Donna Kizer, Bernadette Davis, Keith King, Joe Krachinsky, and Jeffrey Graze enjoy reading to improve their minds.

Western Hills is noted for being in the forefront of educational improvement. This year, students at Hills were treated to a break during the middle of the busy week to enjoy reading....just for the fun of it.

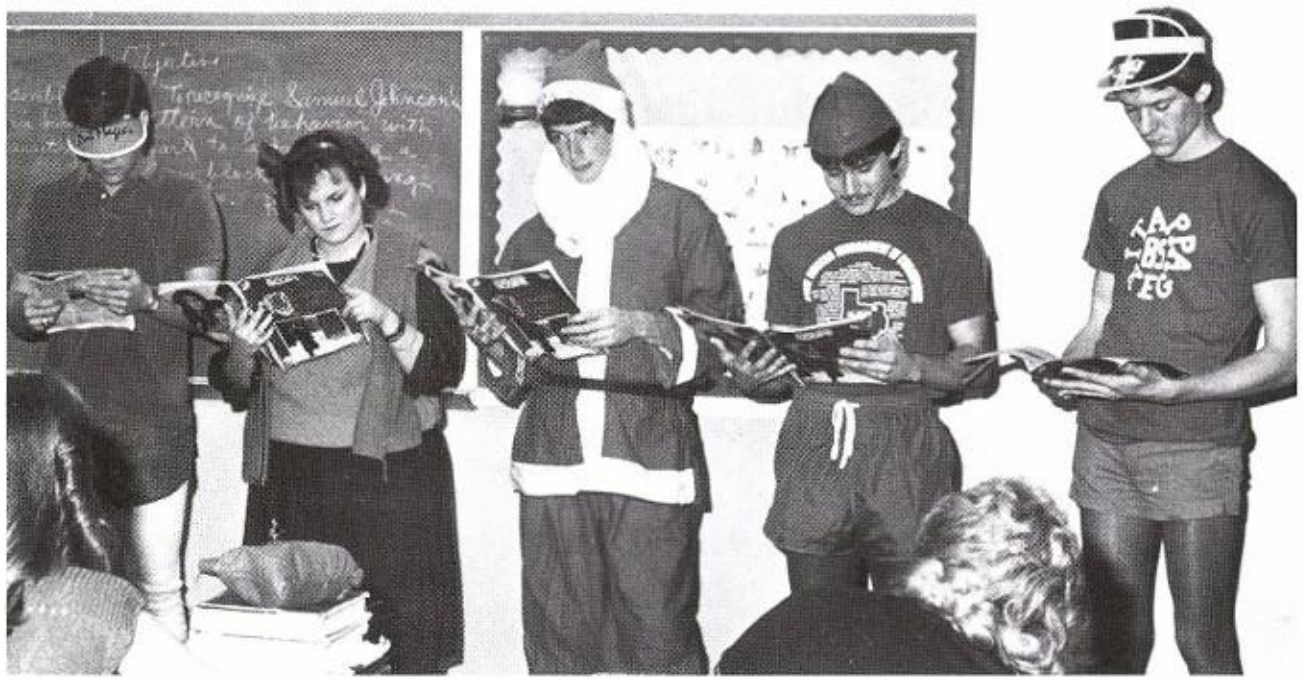
Reading teacher Mrs. Dorothy Deardorf and Principal Mr. Quince Fulton, got the idea from the RIF or Reading is Fundamental program. The idea was that each Wednesday, during the morning assembly time, students and teachers alike took a thirty minute break from the rigors of classwork to read material of their choice for enjoyment. Both teachers and students participated in this endeavor to broaden their interests and to pursue their own reading. In every room in the school, students and faculty could be found reading whatever caught their fancy.

Western Hills was the first school in the district to incorporate the reading break into the weekly schedule. The school board has since encouraged other schools to take advantage of the program. Principals from around the district have contacted Mr. Fulton to inquire about reading time.

Elves Spread Holiday Cheer

Elves patiently await Santa's arrival.

"Mighty Mouse" Morris rescues Michelle Yeaman.



Steve (Santa) Burkett glares up to the class as if to say, "You Better Watch Out!"

Kelly Kuntz, Janae [illegible], and Lana Bradley display the different looks of elves.

Christy Keto and Stacey Reed flash Christmas smiles.

On December 19, 1984, the day before the Christmas holidays, brightly dressed elves were seen in the halls of the school. The Christmas elves were members of the Senior Steering Committee, sponsored by Mrs. Toni Miller and Ms. Karen Uselton. Students were entertained by the reading of Christmas stories or poems in each class. The elves presented their selections during the first few minutes of the period. Members' Christmas attire kicked off the holiday festivities making them joyful for all.

Jingle Bell Rock

Tara Schafer and Missy Sandoval take time-out from dancing to smile for the camera as Kevin Shelby and Chris McCown look on.

Coach Wade Walker brought excitement to the crowd as he appeared as Santa Claus. PTSO members and Senior Steering Committee members provided decorations and refreshments for the dance goers. Camera Club members spent the night recording the entire event on film.

Santa posed with couples for a Christmas portrait, and generally spread good cheer throughtout the crowd. The dance concluded with a traditional slow dance at midnight.

teve Wells, Troy Bodiford, John Powell, Wally Barry and Barry Moore take a reak from dancing to quench their thirst.

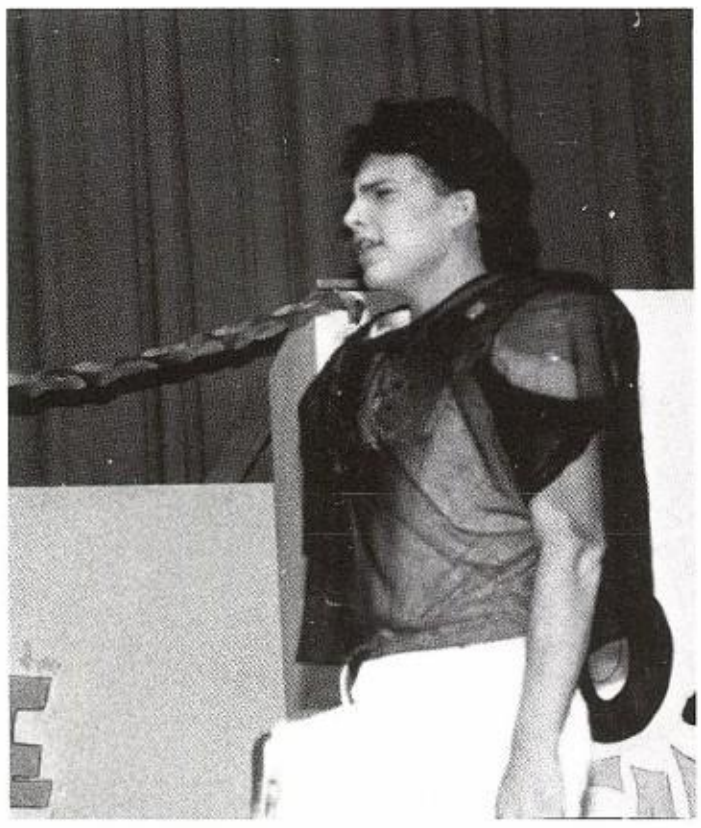
"Small War" Highlights Fall Production



Cayce Elliston is eager for the big game to start.

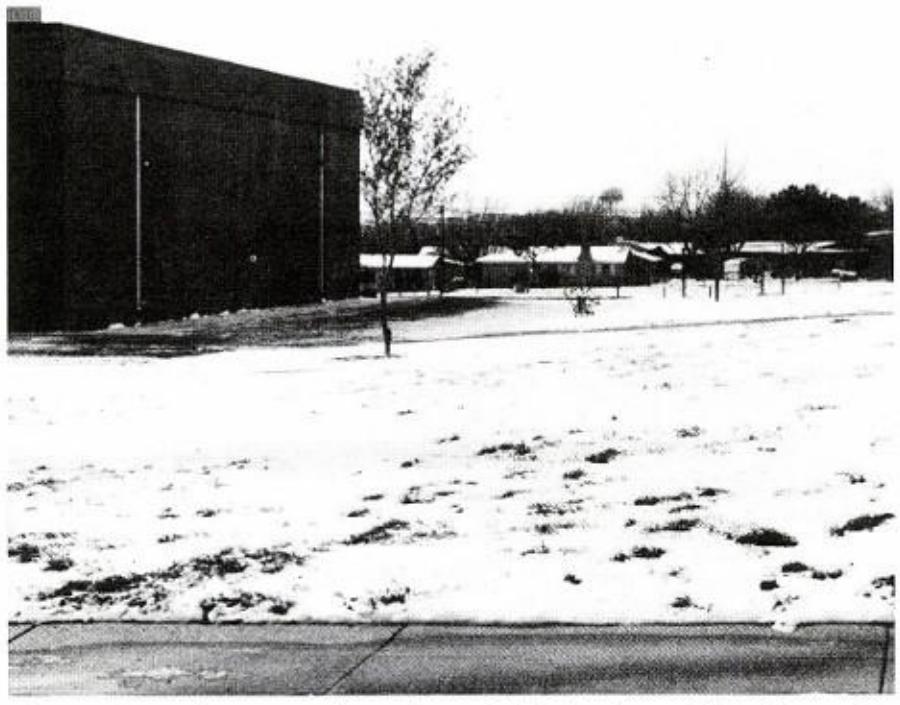
Amy Mattingly tells Fleur Phillips who is boss.

The Theater Arts Department presented "A Small War in Corridor A" on November 27th., and 28th. in the school auditorium. A lighthearted look at high school life, the play delighted the audience. Members of the Advanced Theater Arts Class made up the cast. Fleur Phillips and Cayce Elliston played the leading roles. The play was directed by Theater Arts teacher Mrs. Julia Worthington.

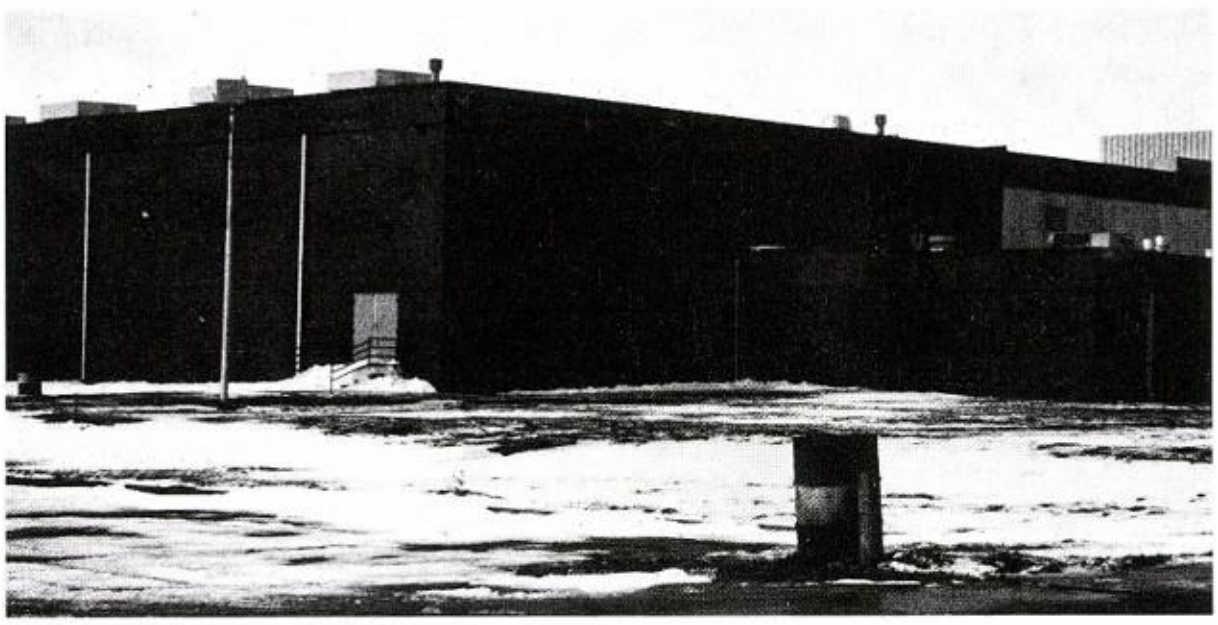
Fleur Phillips ignores Cayce Ellistons gestures as other cast members look on.

The Day the Snow Came Down

Three inches of snow cover the front yard of WHHS.



Snow and ice on the streets and grounds caused school to be cancelled on Janurary 2.



By early afternoon, the snow had turned to slush and had begun to melt.

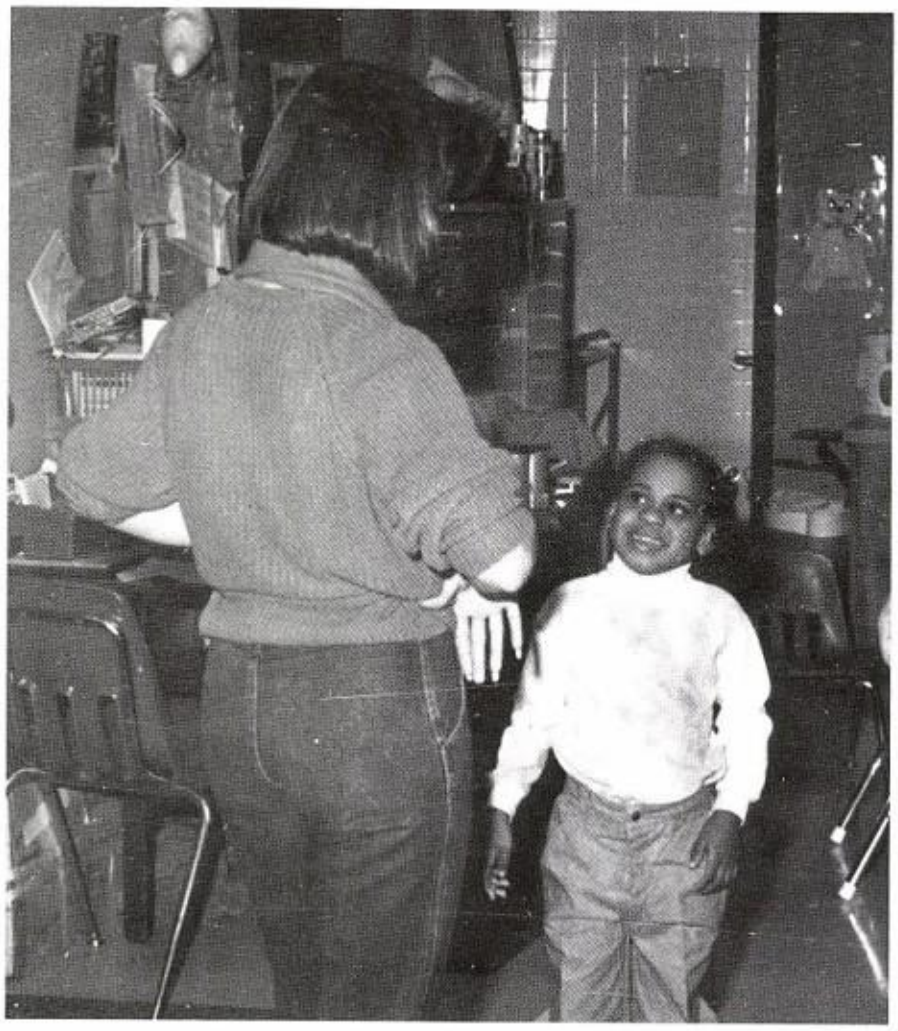
The football field and track area provided many folks with a great place to play.

An unexpected snow storm caused an extension of Christmas vacation for students and faculty of WHHS. The storm dumped from one to three inches of the wet stuff on the area, making travel extremely hazardous.

This is the third time in as many years that we have experienced snowfall that extended our vacation. Last year in the killer "winter of '84", record cold temperatures and ice on the ground caused the break to be extended an extra day.

The unexpected snowfall caused little panic among local residents. Most WHHS students enjoyed the extra day off by playing in the white stuff. Unfortunately, the snow began to melt early in the afternoon, and school was back to normal by the next day.

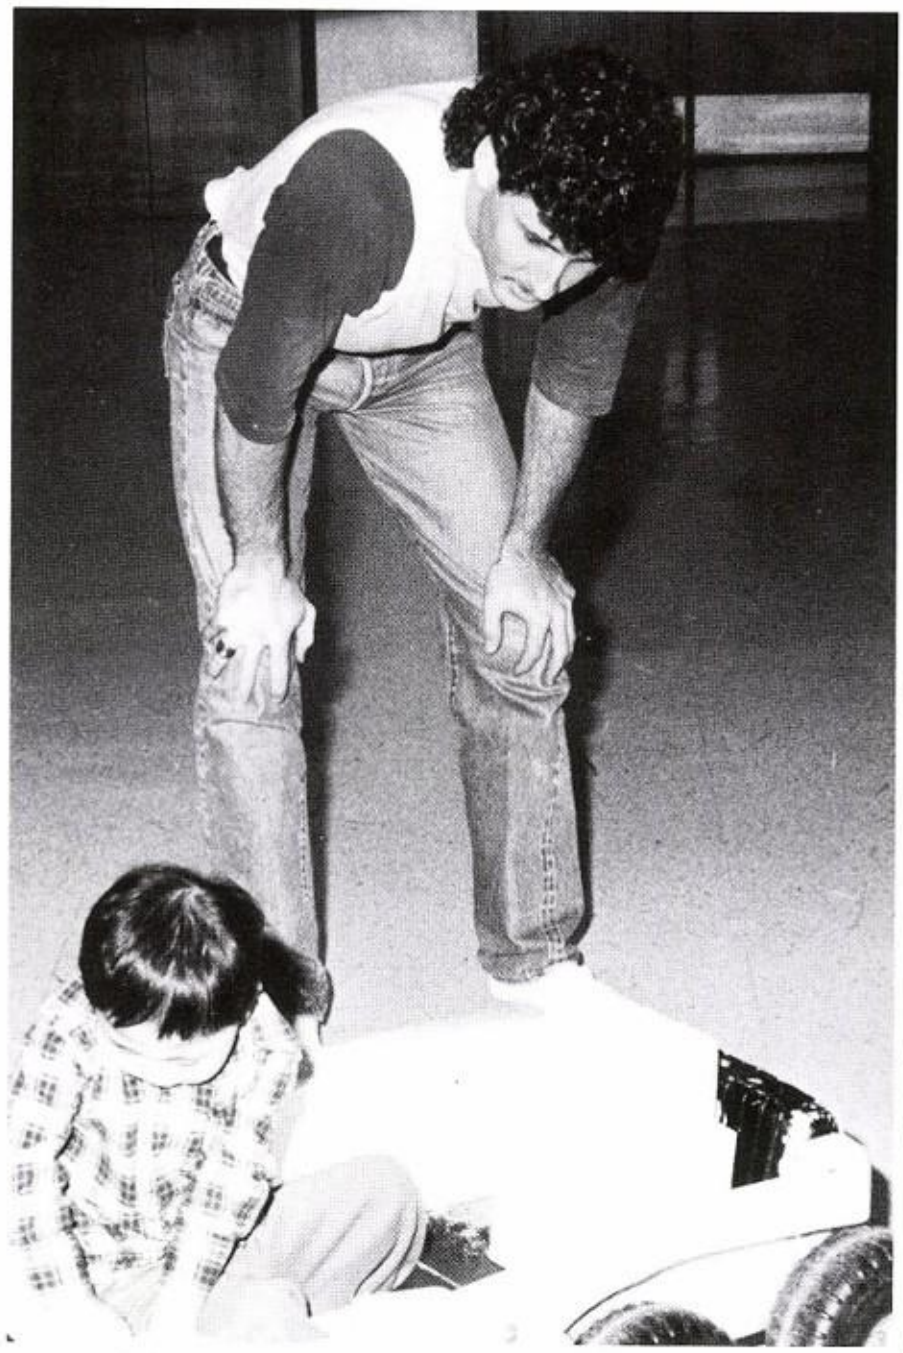
Money Donated to Bonnie Brae



Lisa Morris is caught entertaining a Bonnie Brae student.

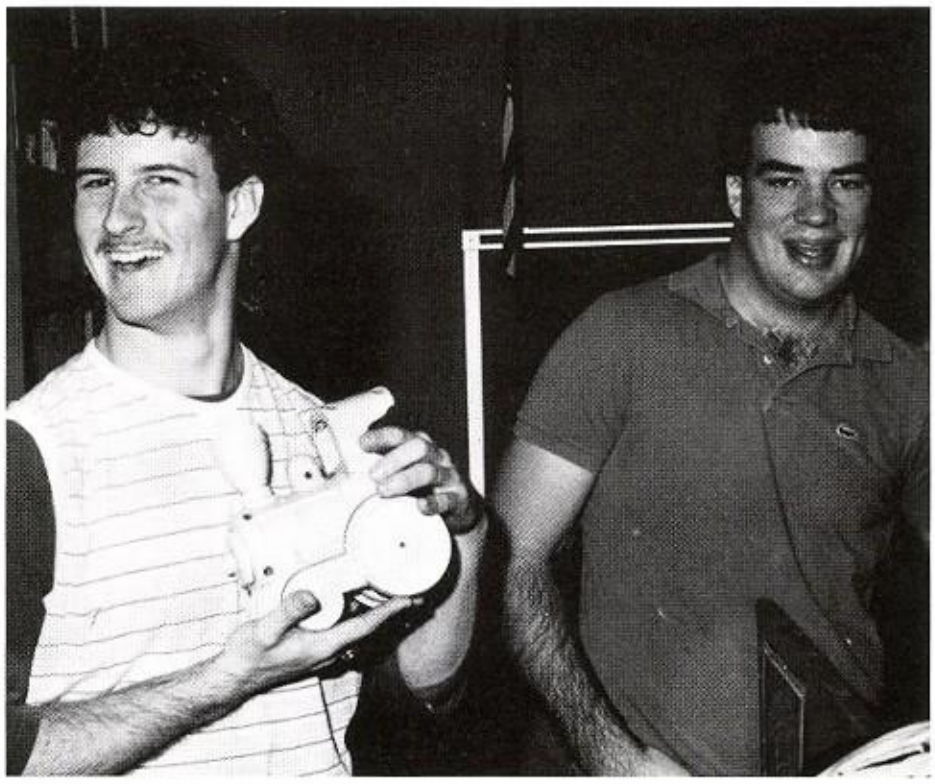
Candy Ammann gives a little bounce for the kids whose favorite recess pastime is the trampoline.

Valerie Cooke shares her favorite stories at naptime.



Kris Abshire listens carefully as he is told step-by-step how to operate the car.

Valerie Cooke and Candy Ammann sit down to play with Bonnie Brae students.



Kris Abshire and Richard Gregory enjoy the same toys as the kids at Bonnie Brae.

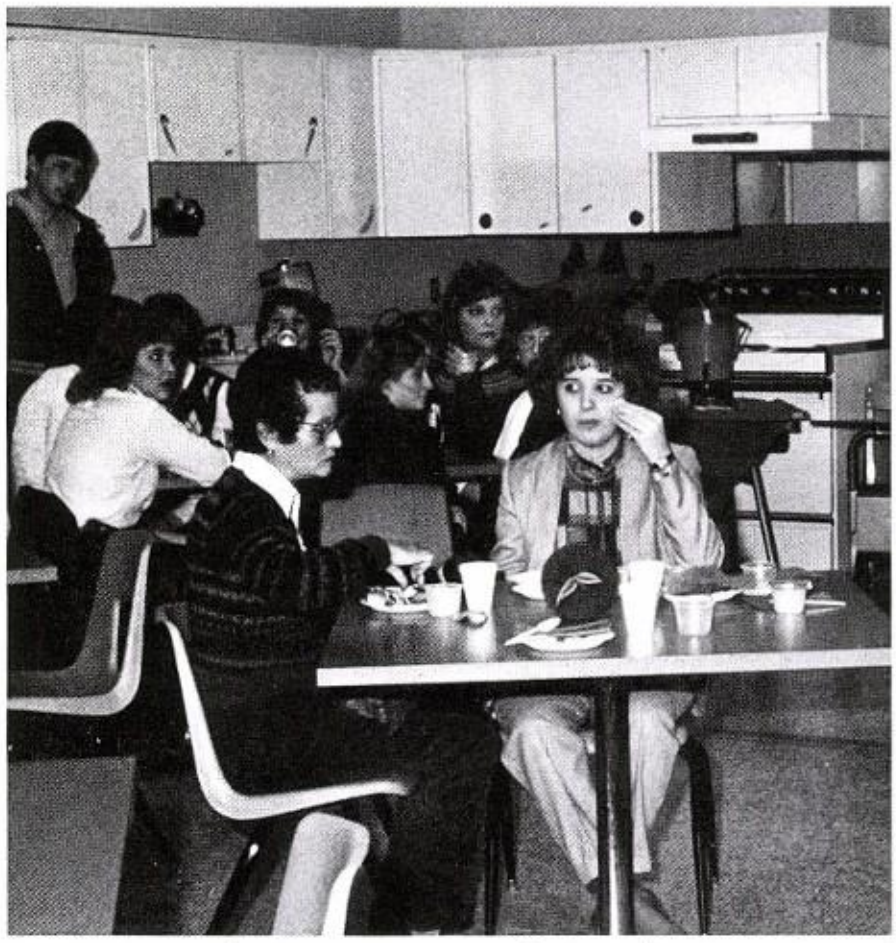
Lana Bradley's friend, Thomas, reaches out to give a loving hand.

Bonnie Brae students stop eating their lunch and discuss their morning activities with their new friends.

Students of Western Hills conducted a Christmas project in order to donate money for the Bonnie Brae School. This was a one week drive which raised approximately $1,600. In order to raise money the Christmas Committee organized the traditional race between the grades. The Sophomores won the race with Coach Mauhrin's homeroom contributing the highest amount of money. The winning homeroom was awarded a trip to Bonnie Brae in the spring, along with the Student Council. The project was a great sucess not only for Bonnie Brae, but for Western Hills in that everyone worked together and donated to help some very special children. A special thanks to the Christmas Committee for their hard work and determination.

MDE Treats Faculty to Breakfast

Rhonda Smithee and Jim Owens prepare food for the breakfast.



MDE students and faculty members enjoy the food and fellowship at the annual breakfast.

Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Cheek get ready for the day with a good meal.

Mrs. Dowler and Debbie Burns share stories at the table.

The traditional "Polish the Ole Apple Breakfast" was held in the Home economics room this year. Each year, students in Mrs. Charlene Smith's Marketing and Distributive Education classes prepare the meal as a way of saying "thank you" to faculty members for all their help and support.

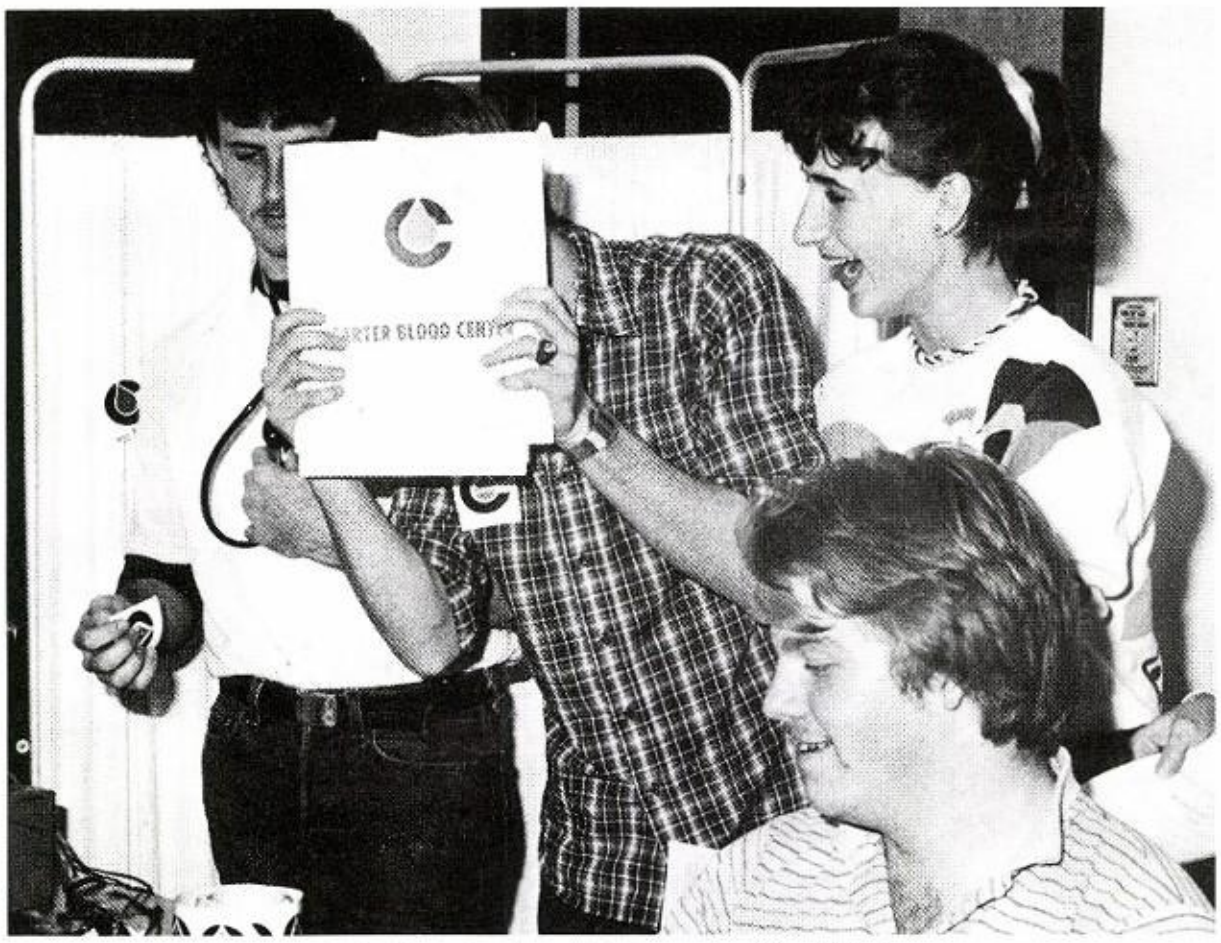
Each student invited one faculty member to be honored at the breakfast. After the meal, students and teachers used the time to discuss plans for the future. As usual, everyone had a great time with both the food and the fellowship.

Students Give the Gift of Life

Kris Abshire, Danny Staples, and Audrey Beaulieu aid Mrs. Sheffield in this years blood drive. Jimmy Ditmore is just one of the many volunteers.

Mrs. Sheffield checks Lana Bradley's blood pressure before taking blood.

The annual blood drive took place in the school auditorium on March 27, 1985. Many donors contributed to the great success of the drive. Students had to be seventeen and weigh over 110 pounds in order to participate in the drive. In an all-day effort, many units of blood were collected and all donors were appreciated.

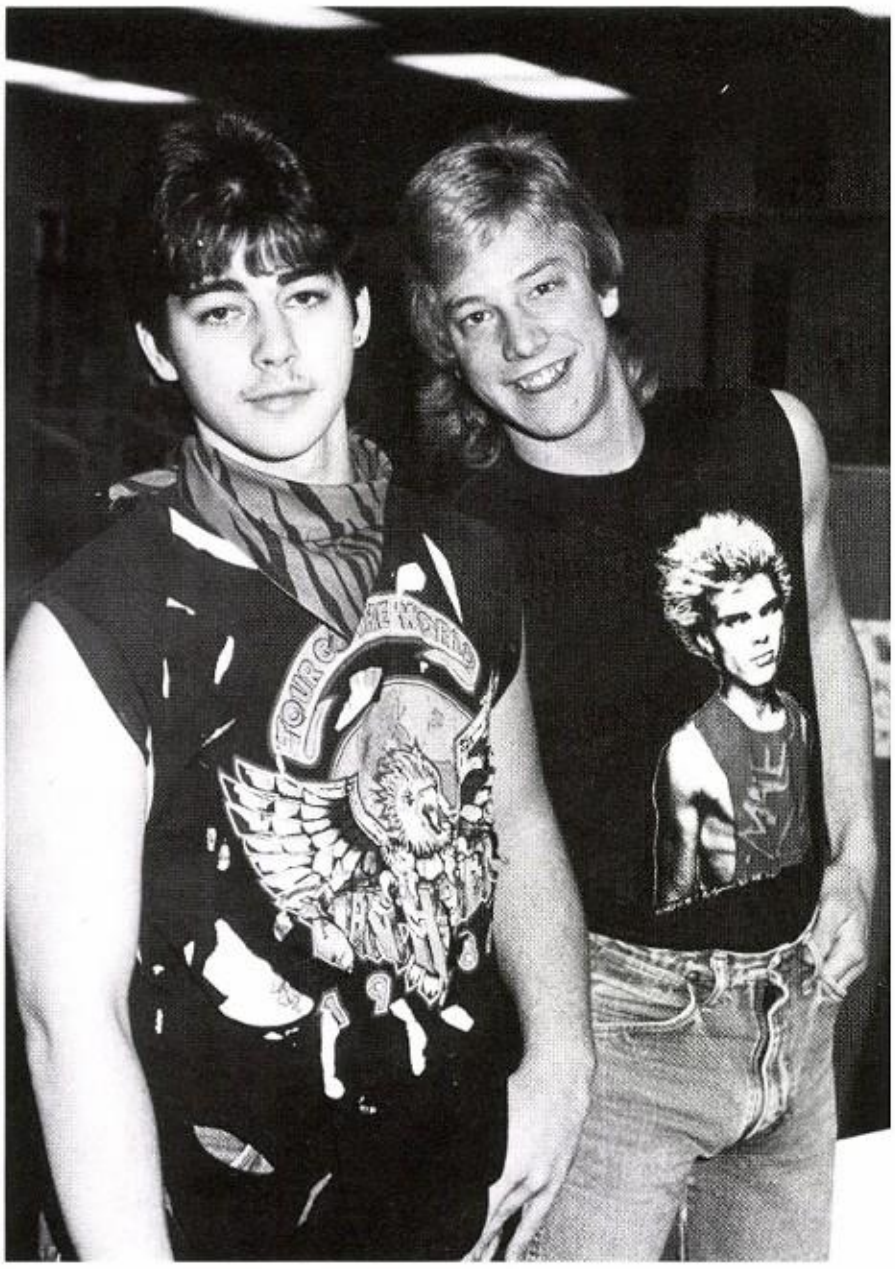


Senior Danny Staples can't bare to see the sight of blood.

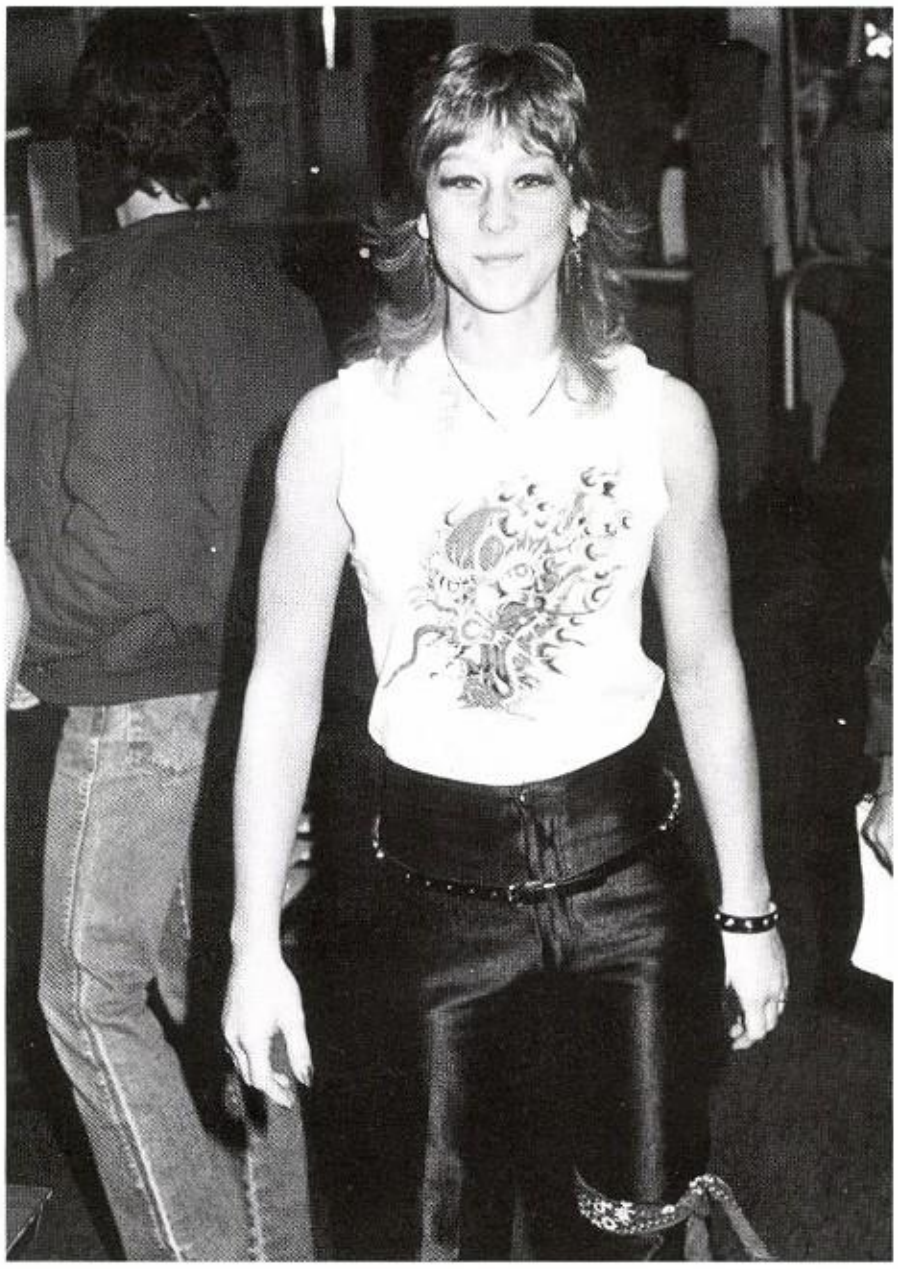
Concert T-Shirts Rock At Western Hills

Concert T-Shirt contestants await the judges' decision.

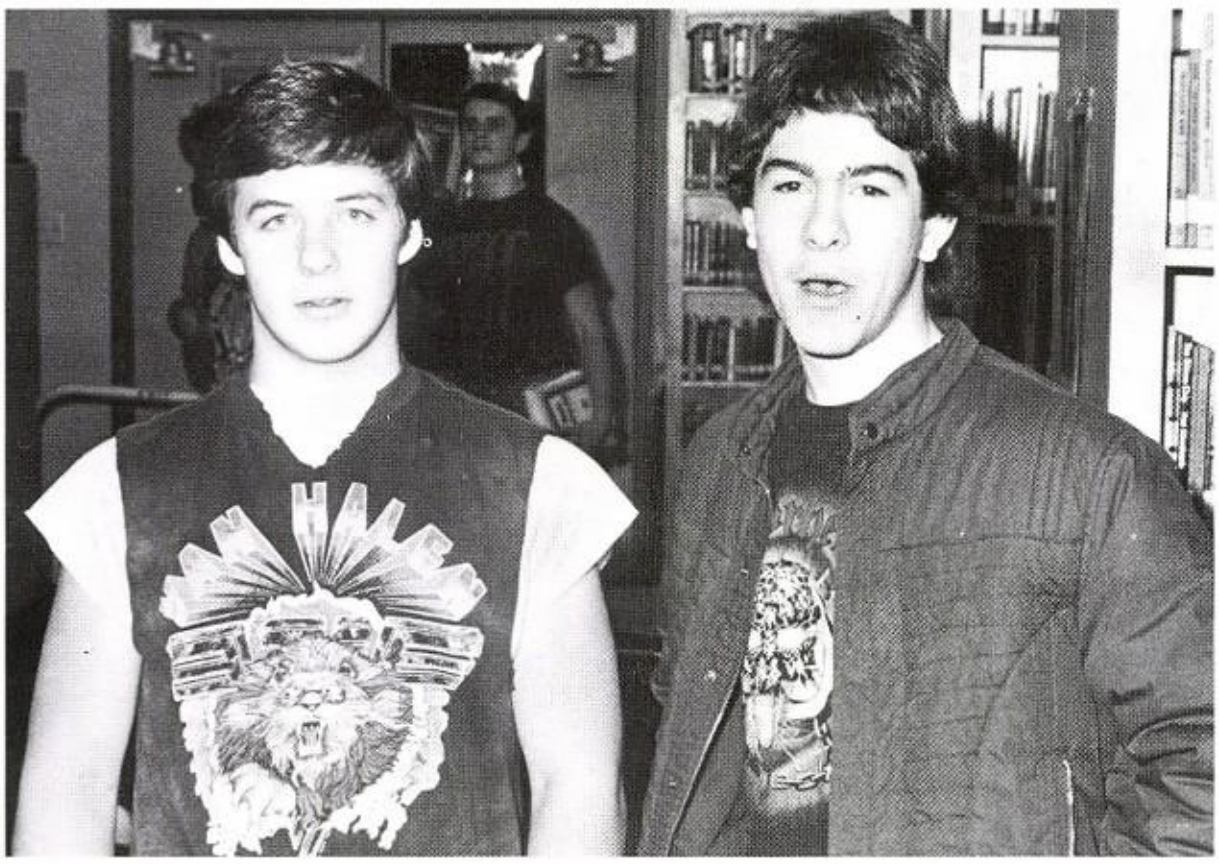
Contest winners were: Kelly Breeze, Bill Paara and Pandora Chapman.



Mark Watson and Bill Paara smile for our photographer.



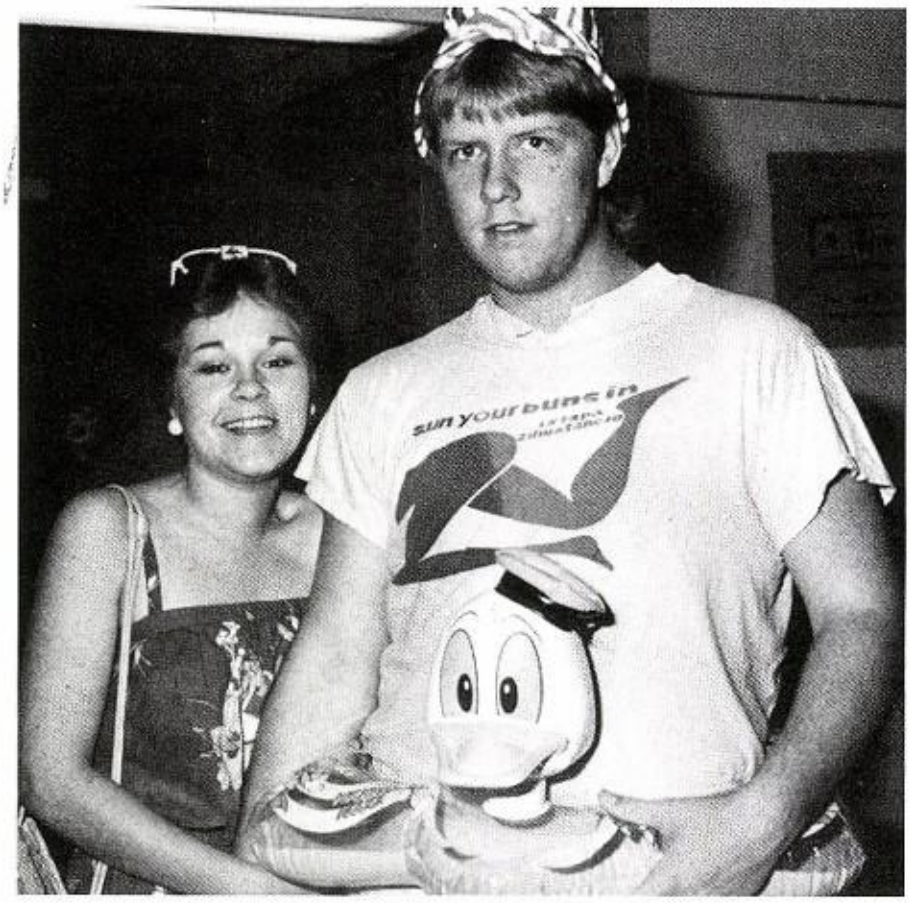
Damaris Sopko really dresses for the occasion.



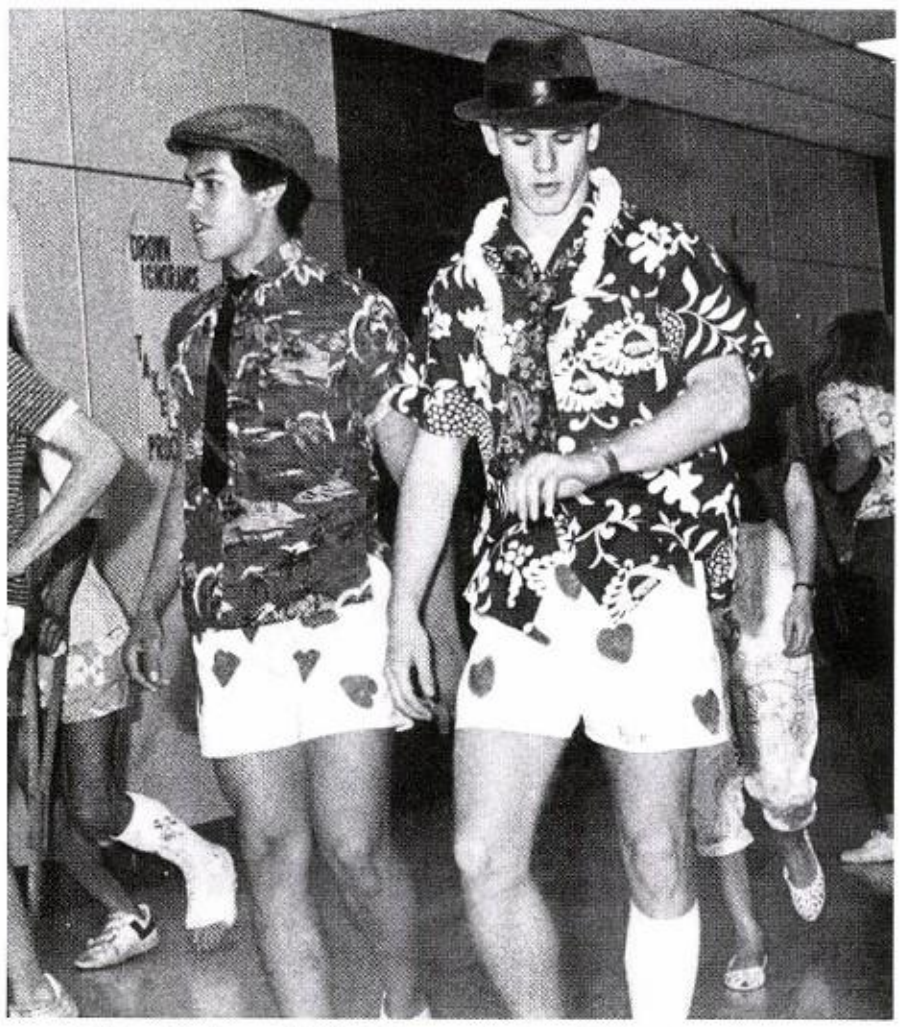
"You mean we didn't win?!", Ken Hassler and Wayne Harrison asked.

Many activities this year provided chances for student involvement at Western Hills, but one of the best was Concert T-shirt Day. Students dressed up in all their concert T-shirts and got all punked out. During homeroom, every student that participated was called down to the library for a Concert T-shirt Contest. The decision was hard and the contestants looked great, but in the end Bill Paara, Pandora Chapman, and Kelly Breeze were victorious, and another occasion was completed.

Beach Party Arrives At Hills



Patty Cyr and Paul Nathan await a night at the beach.



Delbert Martinez and Mark O'Barr strut their new fashions into the dance.

On the night of February 22, 1985 the school cafeteria was filled with scenes of the beach. There were volleyball nets, beach balls, palm trees and sand to give a true sense of being at the beach.

To add character to this dance, there was a band instead of a D.J. The band was orignally known as The Stingrays but are now known as Top Hat. A variety of songs, mostly of the "Beach Boys" type were played.

Parents and teachers began taken tickets at the door at 8:00. Approximately 551 people participated in this event who were attracted to the beach party theme.

Blake Chote asks Toby Martinez, "Whanna dance?"

Rhonda Richeson, Sandi Hudler, Gigi Laborde, Michelle Conrad, and Paula Giamo arrive at the dance ready to boogie.

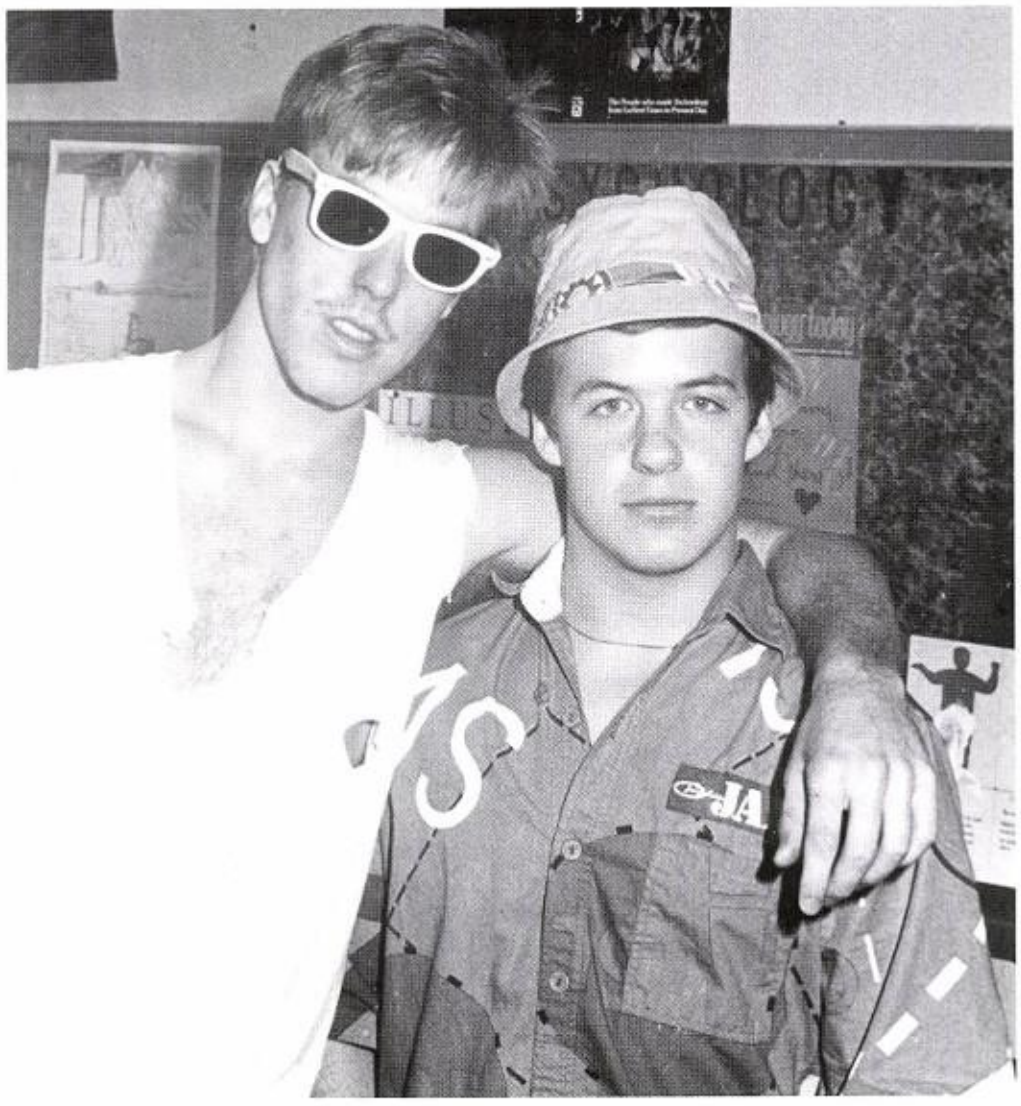
Jeff Elms and Greg Barnes have smurky smiles as they see many uses for their cameras.

Audrey Beaulieu tries to impress Tom Johnson as they dance to Top Hat.

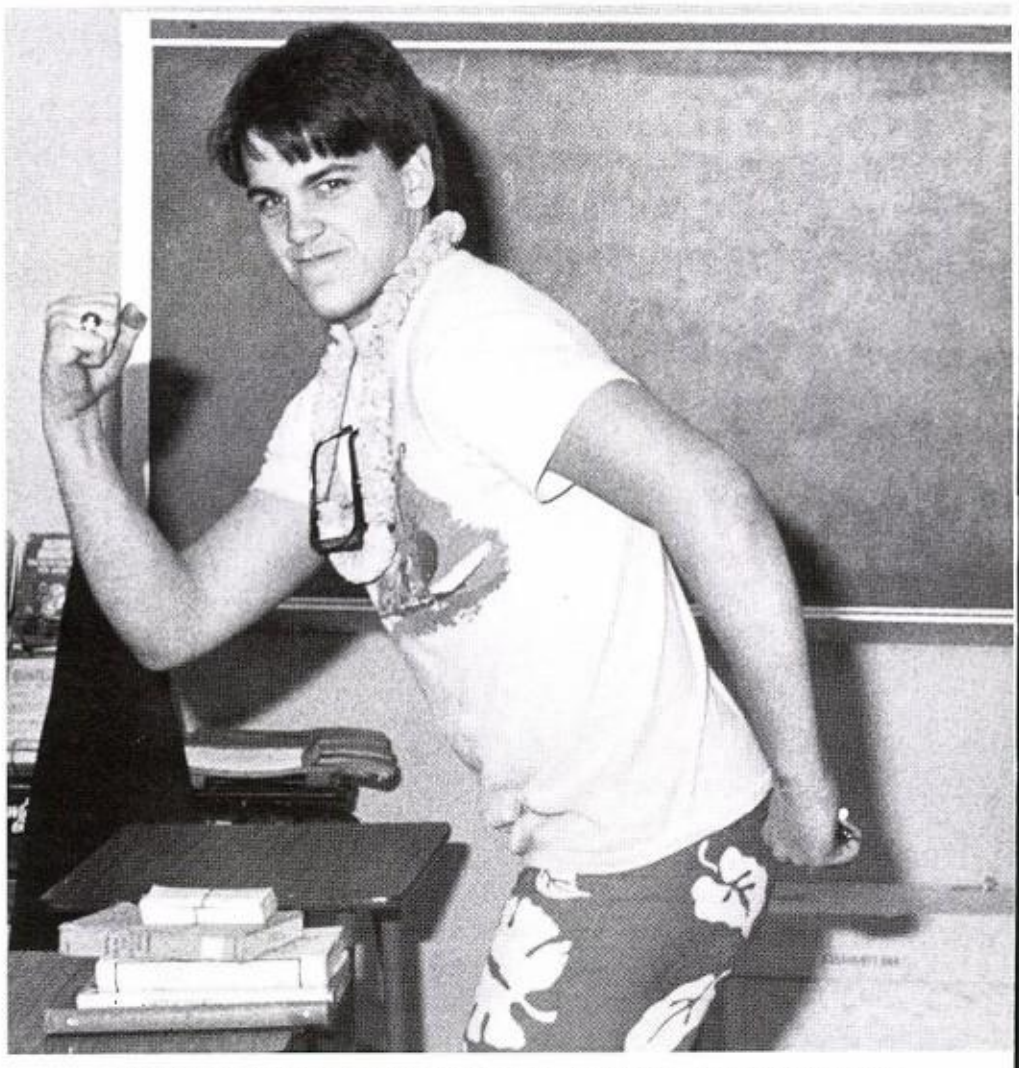
"Here Comes The Sun"

Brenda Bales, Kathy Silva, and Julie Boler are excited about the surroundings of a beach.

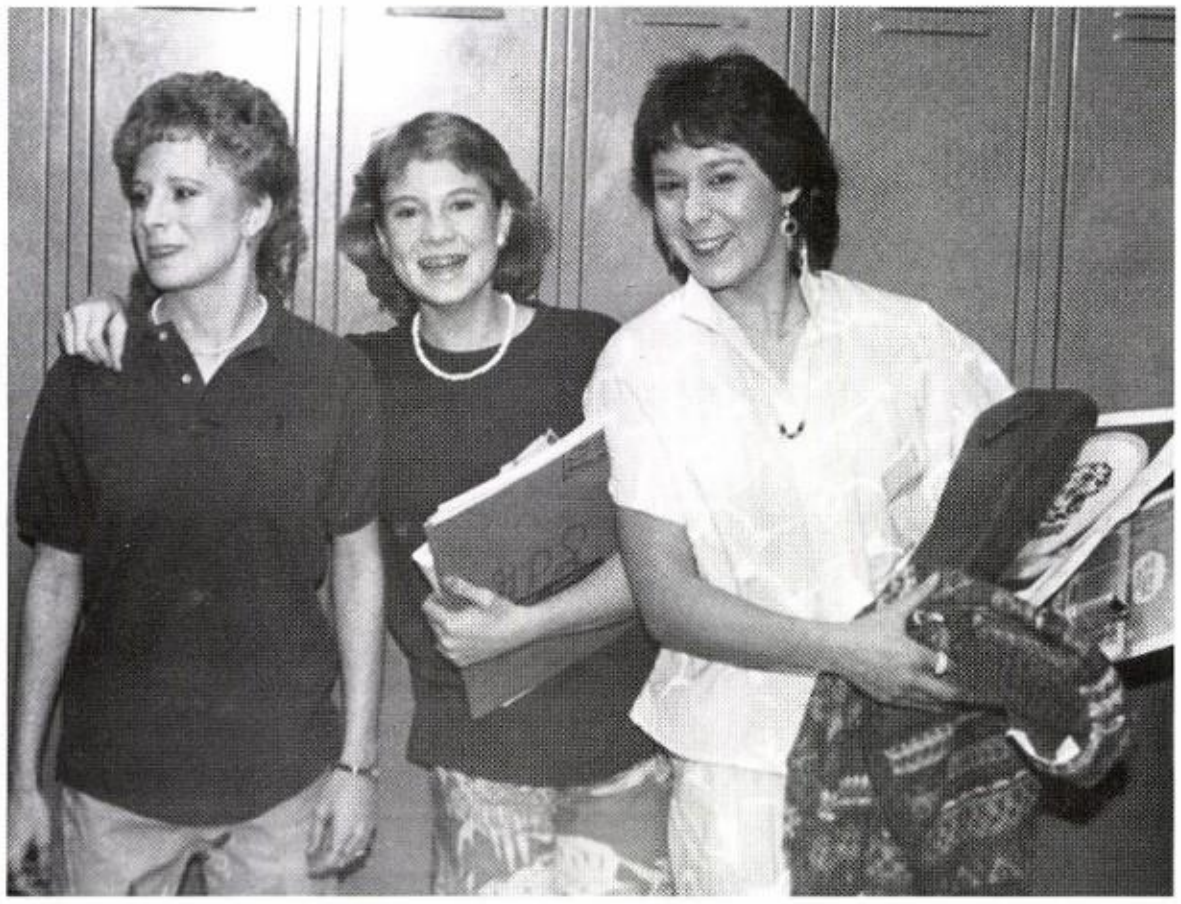


Mark Timpson and Ken Hassler get ready for the big dance.

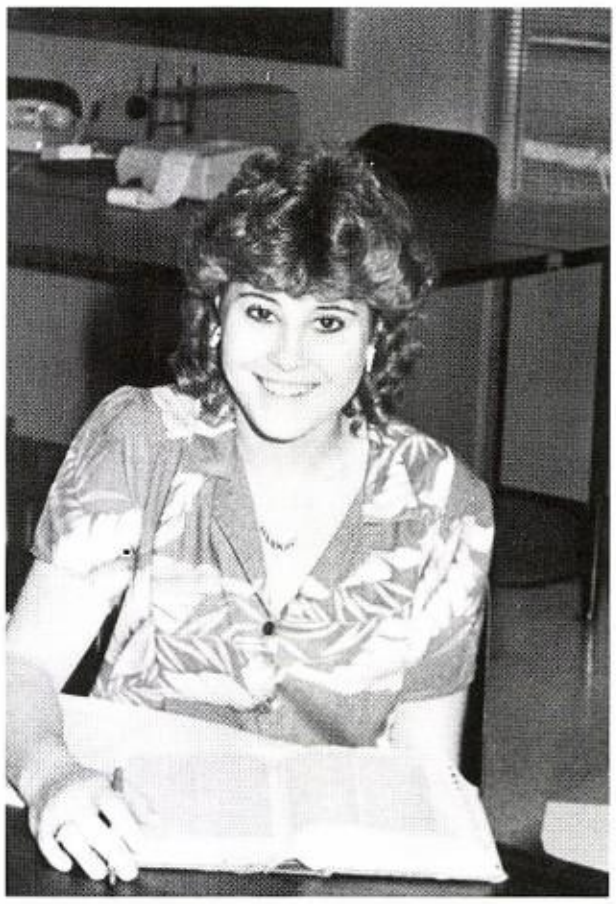
During the day of February 22, 1985, everyone in the school participated in "No Beach Day". This wasn't a planned day, but it just seemed that due to the dance being that night, everyone dressed in beach clothes. These included everything from Jams to striped dresses to regular old shorts and T-shirts. Everyone who took part enjoyed the day.



Clay Crawford tries to impress the cameraman by showing off his big muscles.



Terry Flournoy, Heather Keto, and Heather Friedman stop to pose before they hit the surf.



Shiley Guillory reads up on beach etiquette.

Somchit Lewis asks Megan Lee, "Where did you get your Jams?"

Ocean Pacific ... the way to go for beach apparel.

Hills Hits The Big Time

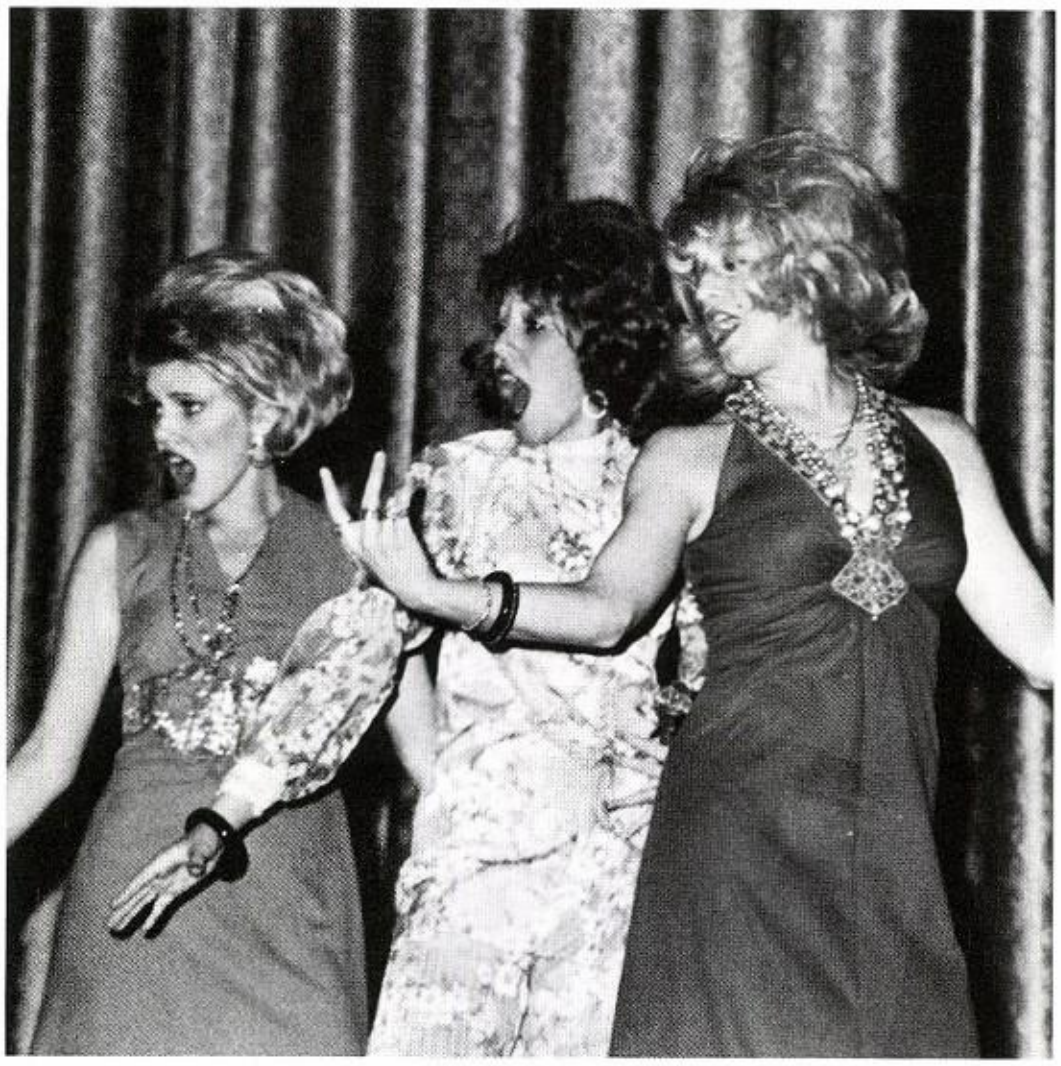
As Valerie Pegg pulls the middle section out, Brenda Bales stands in pain.

Joe DeLane sings like an Arabian knight.

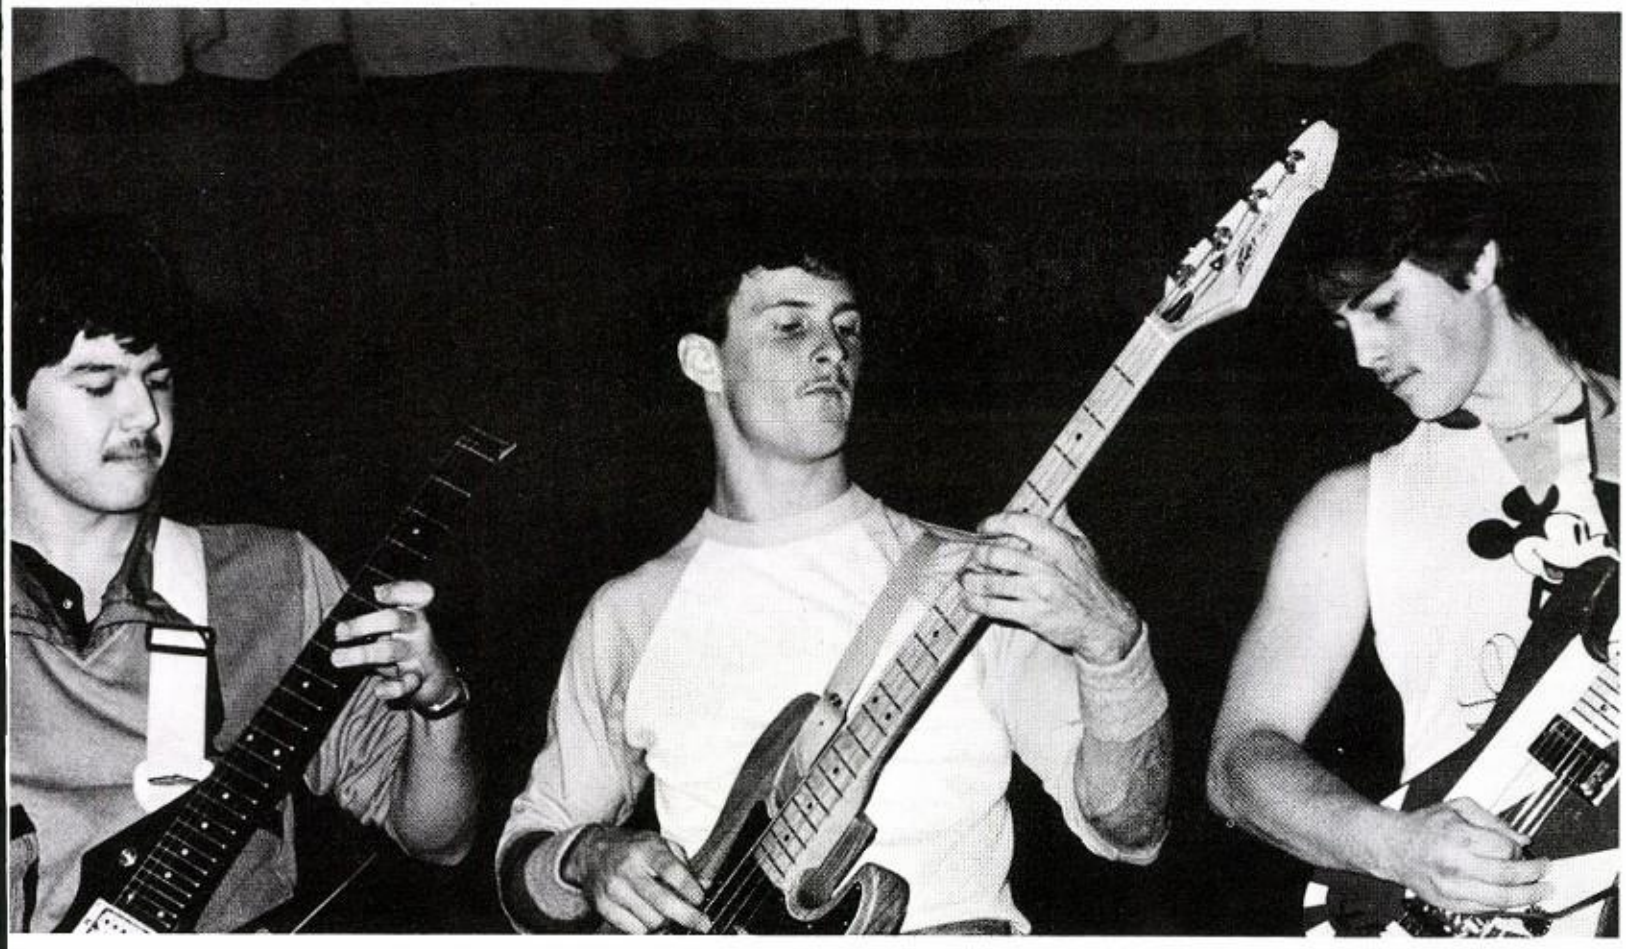
The 1985 "Not Ready For Prime Time" Capers was held on January 30th at 7:30 and February 6th at 7:00. The Capers consisted of 27 groups of performers. The wide variety of acts varied between singing talents and dazzling dancers. Each act stunned the crowd in cheering and set the auditorium ablaze with excitement. Coach Wade Walker, Simon Norrothon, and Joe DeLane announced every act, and got the audience fired up. The Athletic Department sold refreshments to the guests, actors, and actresses. At auditions, five teachers were picked to judge the tryout groups. The judges were Mrs. Julia Worthington, Mrs. Sue Voegele, Ms. Karen Uselton, Mrs. Toni Miller, and Ms. Betsy Bell. Special thanks to the advanced drama class for all their dedication and hard work to make the Capers a big success.

Coach Cox is surrounded by "Fort Worth" girls.

Candice Wright displays her talents at dancing.

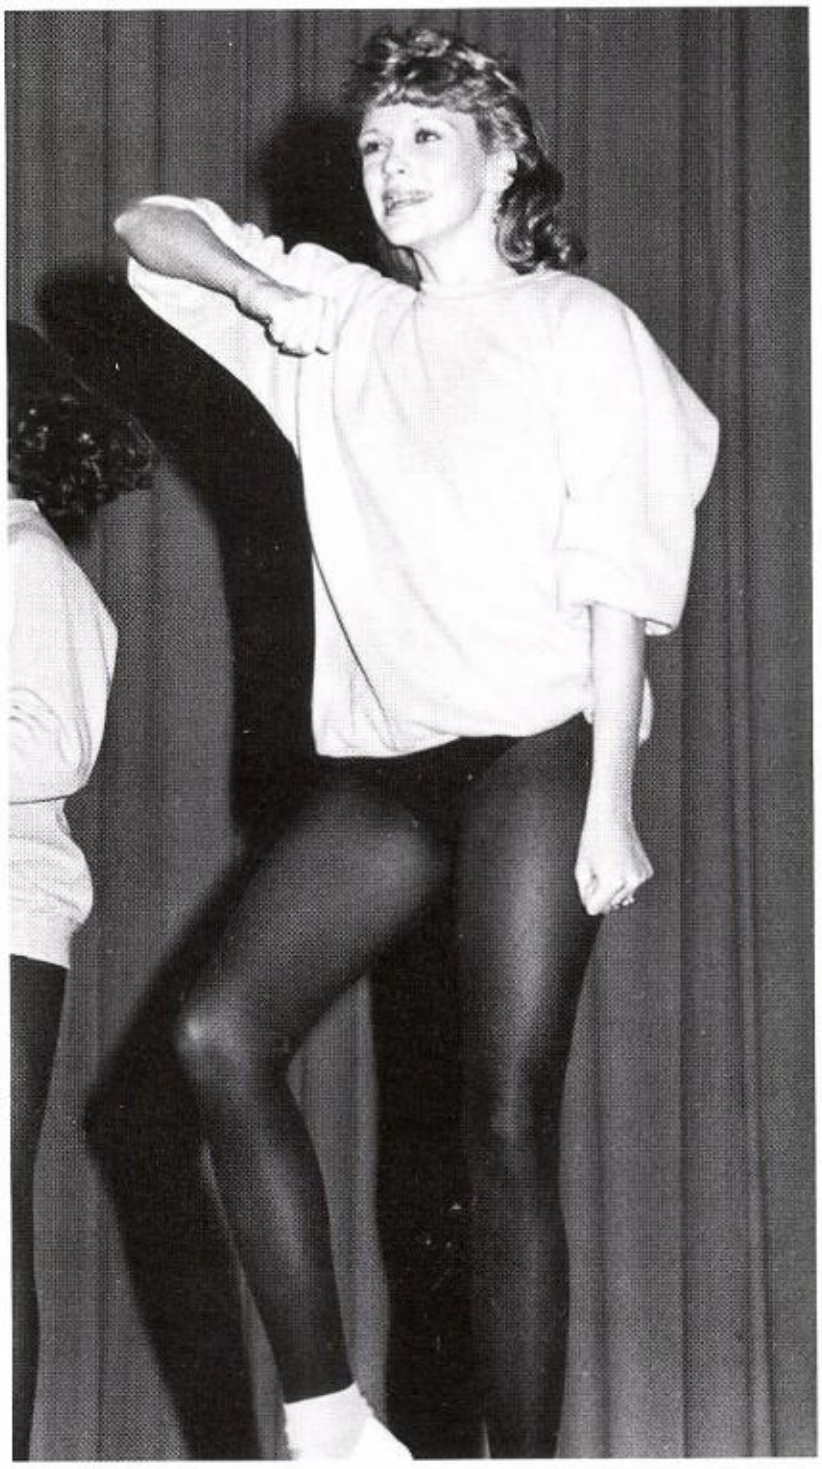


Candice Wright, Lori Williams, and Amy Mattingly, known as The Supremes, sing their hearts away.

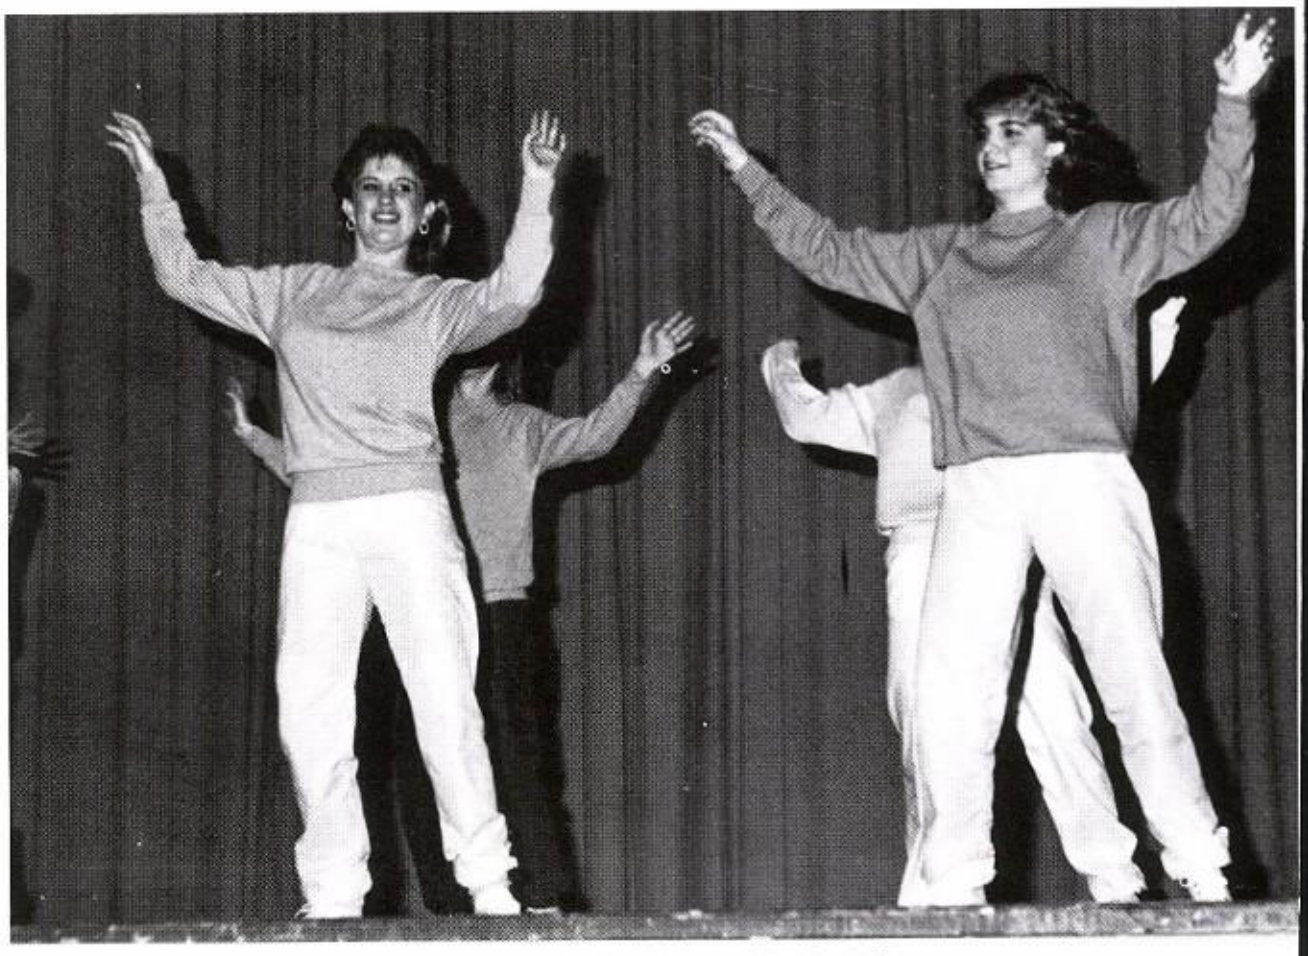


Jim Neis, Kris Abshire, and Mark Watson played for the Cougar Capers.

"... And the next act is...", says Coach Wade Walker.



Christy Smith sparkles in the spotlight.



Pam Matson and Wendy Warren do " The Bird."

Day In The Shade

What big eyes you have!

Stephanie Taylor models the latest beach wear.

Mary Ann Alexander hides behind her Foster Grants.

On Thursday, February 7, students dug up wild and bizarre sunglasses from home and stores to display at school. These students made an exciting Sun Glass Day at Western Hills, with their imaginative ideas. These glasses ranged from the most expensive Foster Grants to the funniest in size and color. Students from all grade-levels participated in the spirit-raising occasion.

CATAMOUNT Creates Country Punk

Allright!! Allright!! We know!! WE KNOW!! We know that you are saying to yourself," There is no such thing as a 'new sound'. We know that you are sick and tired of new musical groups claiming that they have revolutionized the music industry by coming up with a 'totally new concept'.

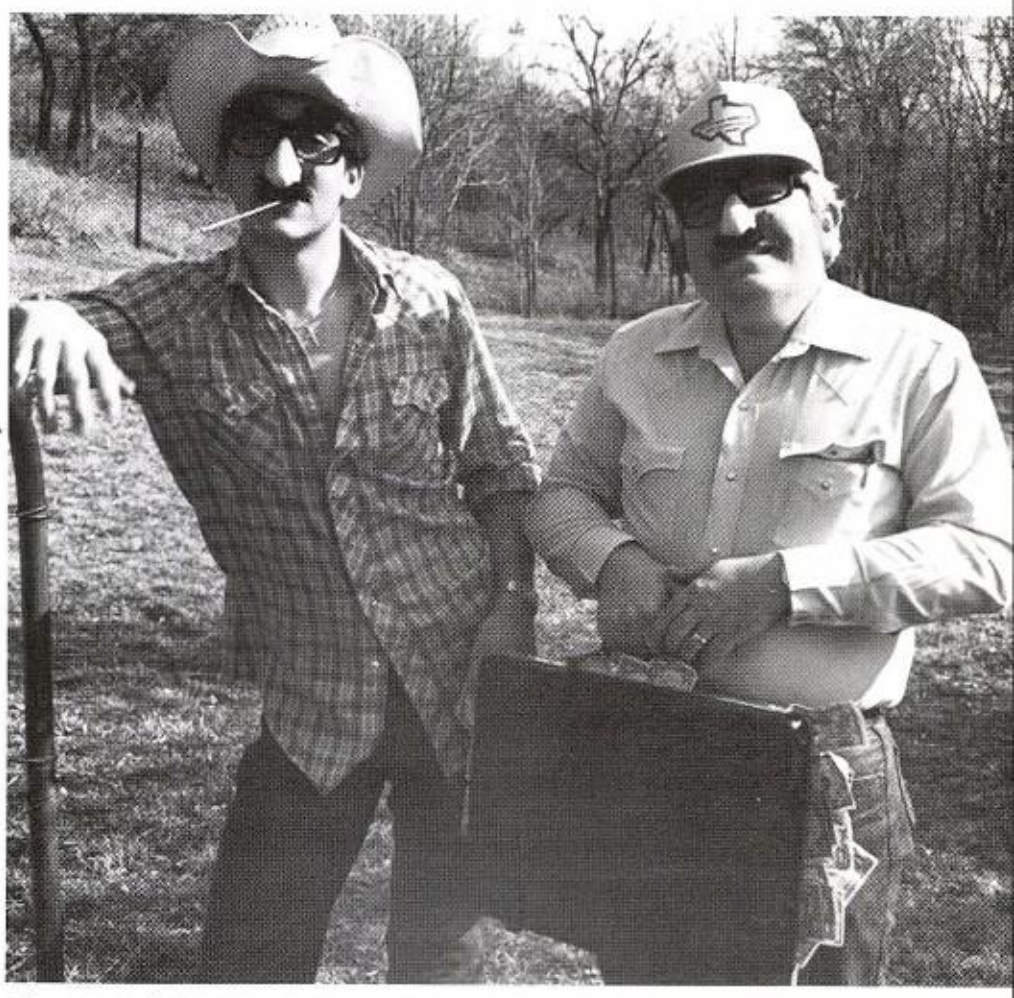
The CATAMOUNT Corporation, ever in the forefront of most enterprises concerned with the making of money, has decided to dealve into the music business, in an attempt to do just that. While trying to decide just which direction that the group would take in this project, several ideas were layed on the table. Resident musicologist Caroline "Hot Licks" Montigny wanted the group to have a 'new wave' flavor. Break-Dancer-In-Training, Thurman "Sore-Neck" Ratliff, wanted more of a 'Regge' approach. Local "Good-Ole Boys'" Mark "Waylon" Kime and Glenn "Snuffy" Brooks got violent at the two above-mentioned ideas, and opted for more of a "down home" taste.

Seeing that a compromise was the only solution, members of the company finally decided that a "New Wave-Country-Punk-N-Roll" approach was the best one to take.Well, I don't need to tell you - the rest is history. Group members donned their best country get-ups, complete with Groucho Glasses, and quickly scheduled a world-wide tour. Since, they have played to packed houses all over the country, literally.

The group has had such a phenominal success, that they are currently planning to take their tour to Europe and Asia. They have scheduled 450 appearences in 300 different cities - this year alone. Look for their new album "Who Stabbed Mabel in the Navel with a Frozen Dishrag", which will soon be available in record stores everywhere.

Section Heads Audrey (Chrystal Gayle) Bealieu, Caroline (LuLu Roman) Montigny, Beth (Sissy Spacek) Cook, Cheryl (Louise) Britt, Michelle (Tammy Wynette) Cordon nier and Editor Mark (Willie Nelson) Kime tune their strings for the next performance.

Photographers Chong (Brenda Lee) Choe, Jeff (Buck Owens) Wetherbee, Glenn (Waylon) Brooks, Thurman (Charlie Pride) Ratliff and Robby (Roy Clark) Niles show off their multi-variety of guitars.



Editor Mark (Willie Nelson) Kime and Mr. Eric (Grandpa Jones) Mann take off with the profits of the group's last gig.

A Big CATAMOUNT Corporation Thank You!!!

The CATAMOUNT Corporation would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the people and businesses that helped to make this yearbook a success. Without the continuous support and encouragement that these folks provided, this book would have consisted of four pages and a box of crayons.....

Many thanks and a big (We mean really huge!) box of cat food to Mr. Adams of The House of Blades on Jacksboro Highway for loaning us his pet cougar "Rosebud" who graces the cover of our book. Applause also goes to Mr. Gary Johansson of Taylor Glamorcraft Studio for making our Seniors look marvelous, our Mr. and Miss WHHS winners and finalists look stunning, and our undergraduates look better than ever...

Special gratitude also is extended to our representatives at Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas— Mr. David Dixon, who helped us keep body and soul together here at school, and Ms. Renatta Jackson, who glued all the loose ends together at the plant.

Futhermore, we consider ourselves fortunate to have such a forward thinking administrator as Mr. Quince Fulton, our Principal. With his steady hand, and with the sympathetic understanding supplied by him and the rest of the Faculty and Staff, we really enjoyed working on this endeavor.

Last but certainly not least, we wish to thank the parents and spouses of the Annual Staffers who stood by us through thick and thin to insure that we had a loving place to come home to when all the work was done.

well Kelly
